MRS. KELLEHER TO BE FREED, IS NEW COURT RUMOR

Mrs. Mary Kelleher, indicted for the alleged murder of six members of her family, and who has been in the East Cambridge jail more than a year, will, it was stated to-day upon high authority, be freed on Monday from the murder charges.

There is a possibility that she may be rearrested on a charge of arson, the charge that was first made against her, but that matter is still in abeyance.

The report that Mrs. Kelleher was to be freed was circulated this afternoon immediately after the visit of District Attorney Higgins to the East Cambridge Superior Criminal Court, where he said he had expected to meet Hugh Bancroft of counsel for Mrs. Kelleher.

"Isn't Mr. Bancroft here?" asked Mr. Higgins when he reached the court house, to a number of newspaper men who were there in anticipation of a new move in the Kelleher case.

"No, he is not here," he was told.

"Why, I expected to find him here."

The reporters asked the District Attorney what was to be done in the Kelleher case and he replied:

"I expected Mr. Bancroft to be here with a statement that he had drawn up, and if I should approve it it was to be given to the public."

The District Attorney declined to say anything further, and when Mr. Bancroft was called up on the telephone he said that it was a misunderstanding, apparently, as to his being at the court house. Mr. Bancroft was asked if he expected to go on with the Kelleher case on Monday.

"Ready to Go On With Case."

"I do not care to make a public statement on that subject," he replied, "but you may say that I am ready and willing to go on with the case on Monday."

It was understood that the program with the Kelleher case is to impanel a jury on Monday and then to direct the jury to return a verdict of not guilty on the indictments found against the woman.

It was the general impression that Mrs. Kelleher will then walk out of the court house a free woman.

Lawyer Bancroft has declared that he and Harry N. Stearns, his associate, would be able to show that the members of the Kelleher family, whom it is charged Mrs. Kelleher murdered, died from natural causes.

TAX COLLECTOR IN WATERTOWN OUT OF OFFICE

Tax Collector Charles A. Raymond of Watertown was removed today from office by order of the Watertown Board of Selectmen. No charges of dishonesty are made against Collector Raymond, but, according to a member of the board, there is more than $100,000 in uncollected taxes in Watertown, the collection books have been loosely kept, the collector has not been in his office during certain hours when property owners called to pay taxes and the collector has failed to renew his bond.

BALL PLAYER GIVES ALARM FOR BIG FIRE

The residence of Henry Phelps at No. 6 Newton street, in the Faneuil section of Brighton was destroyed by fire at noon to-day. The loss to the building alone will exceed $7,000. The structure is an old-fashioned mansion, the Phelps family occupying one-half and that of James Hegarman, the other.

The first started from a gasolene torch dropped by a workman who was repairing the roof. It fell into a crevice and burned for some time before it was discovered. Timothy Ruggles, playing ball in the vicinity saw flames and sent in the alarm from box 849.

Mr. and Mrs. Phelps were at luncheon in their home when the first was discovered. Next door the three Hegarmon girls were busy at household tasks. Patrolman Osmun of the Brighton station notified the Hegarmon girls, assisted them from their home and then called Mr. and Mrs. Phelps. Afterward he assisted the workmen in getting from the roof.

All of the Phelps home with the exception of the parlor was burned. The roof of the entire building was destroyed and the Hegarmon's residence suffered greatly from water damage. The whole structure was valued at from $13,000 to $15,000.

MINERS GET RAISE OF 5 CENTS A TON

PITTSBURG, April 2.—That a rapid adjustment of the miners' wage scale is taking place and will soon remove all possible danger of coal famine was shown today when notices were posted in Butler County field, including union and non-union workings, granting the advance of 5 cents a ton, as aranged at Cincinnati.

At Cumberland, Md., the Consolidated Coal Company posted notices of an advance of 5 per cent. in the miners' wages.

An Apology from Mr. Mutt

To the Readers of the Boston American:

I tried to put one over on you yesterday because it was April 1, but I now see that I am a boob April 1st fooler. Little Jeff could have done better than that, and I'm not sure that Clarice wouldn't have done so.

I thought it would be funny, really, to keep out of the scenery on April 1st, but I have been told that my attempt was not regarded as a great success by the American readers.

I'm sorry, and I assure you it won't happen again. One thing I'm glad of—that you missed me!

Now, just to show you that there are no hard feelings on my part, I have induced Uncle Sam to make it up in the Sunday American.

Everybody is interested in the high cost of living, and Uncle Sam will tell you in to-morrow's American just how to circumvent the food barons and slice down your bill for eats. Sincerely Yours,

April 2, 1910. A. MUTT.

NEW ARREST SOON IN COLEMAN CASE

Another arrest, within a few hours, in the Cambridge bank wrecking case is considered the possible outcome of an investigation now being made by United States District Attorney French and Federal officers.

"We are conducting a thorough investigation of the case," said Mr. French today," and evidence may turn up which may require an arrest within twenty-four hours."

WAR BEGUN ON BUCKET SHOP MEN

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Special agents of the Department of Justice today simultaneously raided bucket shops in seven large cities, and, armed with bench warrants for twenty-nine brokers, began the relentless warfare which the government is prepared to wage against marginal gambling. The raids were made on the stroke of 11 o'clock, Eastern time.

Edward Everett Taylor and Henry R. Duryea, of this city, as correspondents of the out of town companies, were arrested. The offices of E. S. Boggs & Co., No. 47 Broadway, New York, and No. 411 Walnut street, Philadelphia, were raided, and those of Price & Co., in the Equitable Building, Baltimore, and in New York, and of the Standard Stock Exchange of New Jersey, with branches in Jersey City, New York, Philadelphia, Cincinnati and St. Louis, were also closed by the officers of the law.

Armed with bench warrants issued in this jurisdiction, the special agents attempted service upon the twenty-nine brokers who were secretly indicted by the Federal Grand Jury here yesterday.

Federal Law Broken.

The Government contends that the three companies indicted conspired to violate the law recently passed making the operation of a bucket shop an offence against the Government. The indictments returned, although bringing charges against twenty-nine brokers and one telegraph operator, bring under the ban only three individual concerns.

Among the men who were indicted are five millionaires. Those whose fortunes reach into six figures are said to be: Richard E. Preusser, formerly of Boston; Leo Mayer of New York; George Turner of Philadelphia; the Cella brothers, Louis and Angelo, of St. Louis and Cincinnati.

The government dragnet was carefully spread months ago by the special agents of the Department of Justice who worked under the direction of Stanley W. Finch, chief of the Bureau of Investigation, and it is said, played played back upon the brokers the time-honored game of "wire tapping." By this method the government men declare they have obtained ample evidence to convict those indicted.

The total number of offices maintained by the three concerns whose principal members have been indicted amount to more than 250 and the territory covered by them ranges from New England to Oklahoma.

Brokers in the Net.

The indicted brokers are:

In New York—E. S. Boggs & Co., offices at No. 47 Broadway and No. 411 Walnut street, Philadelphia, Richard E. Preusser, Leo Mayer, George Turner, William H. Lilds, Oliver J. Robinson, Edward S. Boggs, Harry Owens, Robert A. Guy, New York; Al Ford and Marshall Parrish, Philadelphia; Edward Everett Taylor and Harry Johnson, Washington correspondents.

In Baltimore—Equitable building firm under firm name of Price & Co., William B. Price, Virgil P. Randolph, Henry M. Randolph, Charles T. Moorehead, Edward Welden, Joseph Gaskins, James A. Anderson, Thomas H. Campbell, Edward Everett Taylor, Washington correspondent.

In Jersey City, Standard stock and grain dealers of New Jersey, New York, Philadelphia, Cincinnati and St. Louis; Edward Altemus, Louis Cella, St. Louis; Angelo Cella, Cincinnati; Oscar J. Rappell, Samuel Raymond, Robert Hall, Henry C. Stumpf, Henry R. Duryea, Washington correspondent, and Charles R. Alley, operator, now under indictment here.

MUST PAY TAX ON MUSEUM PROPERTY

The Board of Assessors to-day denied the petition of the Copley Square Trust for an abatement on the old Art Museum property. The decision means that the trustees will pay to the city of Boston taxes on $1,500,000 involved in the sale. The taxes amount to $25,782.80. The trustees maintained that the amount of money paid for the property to the Art Museum directors was not taxable. The assessors have ruled otherwise.

GOING TO CANADA ON PRICE INQUIRY

Because of difficulty in getting data for comparison of retail prices here and in Canada, the commission on the high cost of living has created a special commission, consisting of Robert S. Wason, representing the New England and Boston Wholesale Grocers' Association and the Boston Retail Grocers' Association; Arthur T. Cummings, representing the Fruit and Produce Exchange, and Chairman Luce and Edward F. McSweeney of the original commission. The new commission will start for Canada on Monday.

BABY IN BOILING WATER, NEAR DEATH

While playing on the floor of the kitchen to-day Antonio Roberto, two and one-half years old, son of Frank Roberto, of No. 126 Cottage street, East Boston, fell into a tub of boiling hot water and was terribly scalded. The boy was taken to the East Boston Relief Hospital by his father. The child may die.

ROOSEVELT WELCOMED AT NAPLES

NAPLES, April 2.—Theodore Roosevelt, saluted by cheers of hundreds of American tourists, and greeted by one of the greatest crowds ever gathered on the shores of the historic bay, reached Naples to-day. As he landed from the Prinz Heinrich, which had brought him from Alexandria, the former President lifted his hat to the yelling throngs and waved a hearty response.

In spite of Mr. Roosevelt's request that he be allowed to land as a private citizen, preparations were made as for the arrival of royalty. Hours before the Prinz Heinrich was due a score of police boats were patrolling the harbor and other craft impressed for the purpose had been stationed at various points to keep back the many boats filled with sightseers.

All the Anarchists Shadowed.

The police had given orders that no person unaccredited would be permitted to approach the steamer bearing Mr. Roosevelt.

These precautions, however, though showy, formed but a small part of the general preparations for the arrival of the Roosevelt party. For days every known member of the camorra and other secret societies and every Anarchist and criminal at large has been under surveillance.

Along the quays for miles, long before the Prinz Heinrich was sighted, crowds were lined. Hundreds of natives had brought with them their luncheons, prepared to camp out all day if necessary, in order to get a sight of the man whose visit has been the principal topic for days.

Mr. Roosevelt stood in the ship's bridge as the liner docked, and he had a magnificent view of the great panorama over which topped smoking Vesuvius.

"It is good to be out of the woods at last," he remarked to one of his party at his side.

Met by the Mayor.

At the wharf there was gathered one of the most notable groups of local authorities and government representatives Naples has seen in years. The Mayor was there with an address of welcome, and there was an imposing array of naval and military officers.

There were Americans aplenty. As far as Mr. Roosevelt could see it was an American crowd, for the visitors from his native land were massed in the forefront. Almost the first to greet Mr. Roosevelt was Ambassador Leishman who came from Rome yesterday. Secretary Garrett of the embassy was with him and Lieutenant Commander Long, military attache at Rome. There was a corps of newspaper correspondents beside which the group that met the Roosevelts on the Nile seemed but a corporal's guard.

Some in the Crowd Hostile.

There was a note of discord, however, not apparent at the water front, but, nevertheless strong. The radicals, particularly the socialists, have little esteem for Mr. Roosevelt since his imperialistic speeches in Africa, and, furthermore, they frown on the splendor of his travels which have been compared to the attributes of royalty on the road.

It was a royal reception, indeed, that Naples gave the mighty hunter. After the formalities on the wharf and a national greeting from the Prefect of Naples, the Roosevelt party was taken to the Excelsior Hotel. Before the party rode an escort of troopers, and as they whirled through the streets, the impressionable Italians greeted Mr. Roosevelt with cheers.

Consul Crowninshield and Ambassador Leishman accompanied Colonel Roosevelt to the hotel. Signor Chiaramonte, the noted sculptor, through the city authorities, extended an invitation to Mr. Roosevelt to visit his studio and inspect the bust of the late F. Marion Crawford, the novelist, which Mrs. Crawford intends to present to him.

Alderman Dolce had been deputed by the Mayor to represent the city in the Roosevelts jaunts about Naples.

RUNAWAY SAVES BOY FROM CHOKING

Young Sammy Shapiro of East Boston was saved by a runaway to-day from choking on a jackstone. Sammy is the sixteen-months-old son of Max Shapiro of No. 19 Brooks avenue. He was playing with jackstones and naturally swallowed one. His mamma grabbed him and ran screaming for help. P. Karp, a pedler, took Sammy, jumped on to his wagon and started the horse at a gallop to East Boston Relief Hospital. The horse broke from a gallop to a runaway. James W. Hogan of No. 26 Brooks avenue stopped the runaway.

The jolting of the wagon during all this made the jackstone pop up from Sammy's throat and out of his mouth. Mamma Shapiro took Sammy back home.

NIGHT RIDERS KILL BOY; WHIP MOTHER

BROWNSVILLE, Ky., April 2.—Investigation confirms the report that fifty night riders stormed the home of Mrs. Adele Carroll, near Goff postoffice, in this county, gave her and her eighteen-year-old son and sixteen-year-old daughter a severe beating and shot and killed Charles Carroll, her twelve-year-old son, who was trying to defend his mother and sister.

GOVERNOR PROCLAIMS STATE HUNT

Draper Joins in Effort to Run Down Mysterious Masked Man Who Shot Two Women Teachers in Springfield and Has Terrorized City for Months.

Governor Draper this afternoon issued a proclamation offering a cash reward of $500 for the apprehension of the murderer of Miss Martha B. Blackstone in Springfield. Here is the Governor's proclamation:

> Being of the opinion that the public good so requires, the Commonwealth will pay the sum of $500 to any person who, in consequence of this offer, apprehends and secures the person who murdered Martha B. Blackstone at the home of Mrs. Sarah J. Dow on Round Hill, Springfield, on March 31st.
> This offer is made because in my opinion the person cannot be arrested or secured in the common course of procedure. (Signed)
> EBEN S. DRAPER, Governor.

Two bloodhounds to-day followed for four miles the scent of the masked burglar who killed Miss Blackstone and dangerously wounded Miss Harriet P. Dow, another teacher.

While the police have gathered in half a dozen suspects, they do not believe that they have got the guilty person. They have under surveillance a man who belongs to a good family, a Harvard graduate and former athlete, who tallies to some extent with the description given of the masked man. This prisoner has been questioned by the police in connection with this case and with many other burglaries.

Under the window to a bedroom through which the burglar gained entrance to the house is a well-defined footprint of the man. The police had taken the precaution to protect this by placing boards over it.

Slayer Took a Car.

The hounds caught the trail of the murderer from this footprint, and then circling the house, took it up again in front of the piazza, the route taken by the man in his escape.

The hounds leaped forward along a straight line down the main street of the city southward. They passed through the heart of Springfield, tugging at the ropes with which they were held.

The trail led to Longmeadow, following Long Meadow street to Bliss road. Thence they led directly to a white trolley post. The dogs smelt around sharply, circling around and around, but were unable to make any further progress.

Some time was taken in trying to get another train in Longmeadow, but it was in vain. The dogs were piled into an automobile and taken back to the house for another try.

Reward to Be Offered.

It is believed that if the dogs told the truth the murderer took a car at the white post that was going in the direction of Hartford.

A mass meeting of citizens was called to-day by President F. T. Ley of Springfield Board of Trade with a view to raising a reward that will insure the running down of the criminal. This city is aroused to the fever point over the outrage and is determined that this crime shall not go unpunished.

This meeting was followed by another of the Board of Aldermen where the same question was taken up.

At the time of the shooting the masked burglar carried a black revolver, and a russet leather holster dangled at his side. This is said to be important, as the police claim the revolver and holster were stolen from the office of Buzzell, Ballard & Weston several months ago.

Miss Margaret Dow, the injured school teacher, is said to be resting comfortably to-day at the Springfield Hospital. According to the doctors, she now has a fighting chance for recovery.

TAFT STARTS FOR WORCESTER TRIP

WASHINGTON, April 2.—President Taft worked hard this morning winding up odds and ends of business in order that he might have a mind free from worry on leaving this afternoon for his New England trip—his first real vacation in months, but one of brief duration.

The first stop on his itinerary is Millbury, Mass., where Miss Delia Torrey, his aunt, lives. Sunday afternoon he addresses a big convention of railroad men in Worcester. After the address Mr. Taft will motor back to Millbury, leaving for Washington in the evening.

FRESNO MAN AGAIN MEETS W. C. RUSSELL

Unrefreshed by a sleepless night, Henry C. Johnson of Fresno, California, claimant No. 2 to the Russell fortune, rose early to-day at the Quincy House and went on a taxi ride through the Fenway with his counsel, preparatory to facing the fourth in the series of exhausting cross-examinations he is undergoing at the hands of the Russell lawyers.

The examination of the new claimant was resumed at 10 o'clock to-day in the law offices of Nason & Proctor at No. 15 Beacon street, with William C. Russell, Johnson and the various counsel present.

The new claimant showed the effects of the mental wear and tear to which he has been subjected. After his collapse in the law offices in the middle of the third conference yesterday, he was escorted back to the Quincy House by his lawyers, Senator George W. Cartwright of Fresno and William Odlin of this city.

Passed Restless Night.

It was hoped that a thorough sleep would refresh the claimant. But Johnson could not sleep. He tossed about through the night. At 7 o'clock he rose. He sent word to Senator Cartwright, who occupied another room in the same hotel, that he was ready for the day. The two ate breakfast hurriedly. Walking quickly through the hotel lobby they secured a taxi from the carriage agent and were whirled away for a stimulating ride in the brisk morning air.

They timed their trip so that they arrived back in the city in time for the opening of the fourth conference in the Nason & Proctor offices. Those present at what is believed to be the final grilling were:

William C. Russell of Melrose, respondent in the famous fight for the $500,000 Russell estate.

Attorneys Robert Nason and Thomas Proctor, trial lawyers for William C. Russell. Attorneys John K. Berry and Eugene C. Upton, counsel for the Russell estate.

Senator Cartwright and Attorney William Odlin, counsel for the new claimant. The new claimant, Henry C. Johnson or Fresno Dan.

Mrs. Bertha Avery of Chicago, formerly of Melrose, who knew the original Daniel Blake Russell well; Ferdinand C. Almy, co-executor with William C. Russell of the Russell estate; Miss Sarah Almy, sister of Ferdinand C. Almy, cousin of William C. Russell and housekeeper at the Russell home, were expected at the conference, as they were present at yesterday's sessions.

Painting by Donkey Wins Place in Salon.

PARIS—All Paris is laughing over the practical joke perpetrated on the impressionist artists now exhibiting their works in the Salon des Independants. Many Americans are in this impressionist movement. But a picture signed "J. R. Boronale" has achieved fame surpassing all others. The picture was "painted" by a donkey. The practical jokers secretly led a donkey into a studio. There, in the notary's presence, a brush was tied to the end of the donkey's tail and the patient beast was backed up to a canvas. The brush was dipped in lurid paint. Then the jokers tickled the donkey's ribs until it switched its tail across the canvas. Under the name "Sunset in Algeria," the picture was sent to the Salon and hung there. Some critics pronounced it to be of the ultra-impressionist school.

Miss Deacon to Wed Prince.

ROME—The engagement of Miss Dorothy Deacon and young Prince Antoine Radziwill will soon be announced. Miss Dorothy is perhaps the most beautiful daughter of her beautiful mother, Mrs. Baldwin, who was Mrs. Edward Parker Deacon. Miss Dorothy is only eighteen years. She made her debut this Winter and achieved at once great social success. The Prince delays formal announcement of the engagement out of deference to his mother, a great figure in Italian society, who is opposed to the match. The Prince is very wealthy in his own right.

NEW MEDICAL DISCOVERY

For All Skin Troubles

A chemist who was convinced that the old method of taking internal remedies to cure skin diseases was erroneous has discovered that an extract from a particular part of a well-known tree possessed antiseptic and curative properties on the skin tissues. It was, however, found that this valuable vegetable extract was difficult to compound with other ingredients necessary to present it in a form convenient to use. After further investigations and experiments a method of special treatment was devised resulting in a combination of ingredients possessing to a marked degree valuable therapeutic properties, the like of which has never before been produced. This important product is known as Cadum. Since its introduction Cadum has cured many cases of chronic eczema and other unsightly, irritating, and distressing skin diseases, and this after other treatments have failed. Cadum stops the terrible itching of eczema at once, and begins the healing process with the first application. Its action is still more remarkable in less serious skin troubles, such as hives, pimples, blotches, tetter, itch, acne, herpes, scaly skin, psoriasis, ringworm, rash, chafings, eruptions, sores, itching piles, scurvy, blackheads, scabs, etc. Many of the results effected by Cadum may be truly called remarkable. It destroys disease-producing germs, allays inflammation and is soothing and healing to the skin. Trial box 10c.; large box 25c.

At This Time of Year be sure to use Hood's Lotion. Soothing, healing, antiseptic. Best for all weather effects on the skin the year round. 25c.

Dyspeplets unlike soda mints, are not a strong alkali—no bad effect attends their continued use. They quickly sweeten sour stomach, stop belching, relieve heartburn, nausea, seasickness; also sleeplessness from indigestion. 10c, 50c or $1.

'I'LL WALK AND WIN YET,' SAYS MISS SEARS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—"I will make the trip again and carry it to the finish just as soon as I can find an escort that will go with me," said Miss Eleanora Sears, the Boston society girl who was forced to abandon her 108-mile walk last time from Burlingame to Del Monte. Compelled to give up the trip at Gilroy, after she had covered sixty-six miles in 19 hours 40 minutes and 18 seconds, Miss Sears was hurried back to Burlingame by automobile. To-day at the home of her chaperon, Mrs. Francis Carolan, Miss Sears declared that her marvellous exhibition of "gameness" had not greatly fatigued her. "I could start again this minute," she said.

"If we had been able to find anyone to accompany me from Gilroy on, over the hard mountain going, I certainly would not have been induced to halt. Motor cars could not make the trip over the Santa Cruz range because of the poor condition of the roads, and I couldn't be expected to carry my own supplies, could I?

"It was great sport, though. I never had such an enjoyable experience. And I'm going to prove that I can do that distance easily. I will yet win."

Stewart Lowrey, the society man who was the last to give way under Miss Sears's pace, to-day showed more signs of fatigue than the fair pedestrian.

ALL THE DRAPERS HEAR MRS. PICKETT

Governor Draper and a party of friends occupied a box at Keith's last evening to hear Mrs. La Salle Corbell Pickett's address on the last day at Gettysburg. In the Governor's party were Mrs. Draper, Eben S. Draper, Jr., Miss Dorothy Draper, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Murphy, President of the Senate Allen P. Treadway and Mrs. Treadway, Major Talbot Aldrich and Captain Edwin L. Logan.

GUILD SCORES BACK BAY FOR NOT ENLISTING

Boston business men, particularly those residing in the Back Bay, are scored for their lack of interest in the State militia, in an editorial to-day in ex-Governor Guild's paper, the Commercial Bulletin. The editorial says:

"The utter lack of interest of the business community in their own best insurance policy, the force that stands for law and order, is responsible for the startling fact that not one organization in the militia of Massachusetts has full ranks.

"Boston, and particularly the Back Bay, is strangely delinquent. It is a disgrace that her old crack companies, batteries and cavalry troops should every one of them lack a waiting list. Chelsea keeps her company list full, with a waiting list; so does Fitchburg. If the men who work with their hands can keep the companies of the Ninth Regiment, for example, the good old Fighting Ninth, full of recruits, can the men who work with their heads in the Back Bay and Brookline and Newton or along the Salem and Beverly shore afford to let their less fortunate brothers teach them a lesson in patriotism and civic duty?

"It is time that the business men of Massachusetts set the example. Their sons should be the first, not the last, to enlist. There should be a waiting list, an honor roll in civic duty, to every company, battery troop and corps in the Commonwealth.

"Some business men appreciate the danger threatened by the neglect of the militia by those who should be the first to sustain it. If the clerk or the workman is ready to give his leisure and his brains and some money, why should the employer not co-operate at least to the extent of allowing every member in the militia in his employ, in addition to the usual vacation, one week for the Summer training school in military field work?"

BANK TRUSTEES ALL DUPED BY WORK OF HALL

SOUTHBRIDGE, April 2.—Four members of the board of trustees of the Southbridge Savings Bank, which Treasurer John A. Hall looted of about half a million dollars, were put through a severe cross-examination to-day by the legislative investigating committee.

The trustees admitted their helplessness in the hands of Hall, their failure to grasp the significance of their responsibility as trustees of the people's money, and confessed that if they were put in the same position again they would act differently.

The trustees' room in the savings bank building, where the hearing was held, was crowded with citizens and depositors.

Albert B. Wells, treasurer of the American Optical Company, and one of the trustees, was the first witness.

"The first I knew of my election to the board," he said, "was when John A. Hall telephoned to me about it. I was not on the audit or investment committee and so did not know much about the books.

"The duties of a trustee look different to me now. I did not realize how important the place was. I always trusted Hall implicitly."

John E. Paige, son of Calvin D. Paige, president of the bank, himself a trustee of the bank for six years, and W. C. Lewis, also a trustee, said they did not know much about the management of the bank. "The others were able to get along without me," said Lewis.

G. C. Winter, chairman of the audit committee, gave the most important testimony.

"I audited the books of the bank," he said. "I had been auditing the books since the incorporation of the bank. I carefully examined the assets of the bank every time, listing every note, bond, etc. I took Hall's statement for the resources and figured entirely from the general ledger. I never took steps to see if the statements in the general ledger tallied with those on the cash book.

"I know now that is not the proper way to audit a bank's books. Any bookkeeper could have fooled me.

"I know now of one item which in the cash book was $4,000 and in the general ledger [illegible]. If I had examined the cash [illegible] should have found many more like it."

LEGAL SEPARATION ENDS TRIAL DIVORCE OF SALEM PREACHER

MRS. CHAS. M. PUFFER.

Former Salem Wife of Minister, Who, Finding Trial Divorce a Failure After Three Years, Has Been Granted a Legal Divorce.

Legal separation granted in the Suffolk Divorce Court to Mrs. Sara E. A. Puffer from the Rev. Charles H. Puffer, pastor of the First Universalist Church of Salem, brings to an end the most unique "trial divorce" on record. In March, 1907, the Puffers agreed to live apart for three years. At the end of that time if either husband or wife wished to continue the separation application was to be made for a legal divorce. One year after the expiration of the time agreed upon Mrs. Puffer has been granted her decree.

She alleged desertion and told Judge Raymond in court that her husband's refusal to live with her caused the suit. It is said that the Rev. Mr. Puffer declined to receive his wife back after she had gone on the stage as a dancer.

During the "trial divorce" the pastor paid Mrs. Puffer $75 a month, that being part of their agreement. It is said that the divorce decree gives Mrs. Puffer alimony of $500.

The amazing contract between the two was drawn up after they had been married nearly a score of years. Two years after the separation Mrs. Puffer went on the stage, making her debut at the Castle Square Theatre. This act was followed by another phase in the case, in which Dr. Puffer was sued for alienation of affections. This latter case is on the docket in the Essex County Superior Court. The plaintiff is E. A. Empy and the sum $25,000. Empy's wife was formerly housekeeper in the Puffer household.

Mr. and Mrs. Puffer met and married in the West. He was then twenty-nine and she a girl of sixteen. She was a student of elocution.

Mrs. Puffer, since going on the stage, has expressed some original opinions on love, trial marriage and trial divorce.

Some of her sayings are:

"I did not like my trial divorce.

"It has been said marriage is a gamble. Once a woman said that love was a beautiful accident. The statements run together, and I am inclined to believe them.

"Trial marriage and trial divorce are very different. A trial divorce is sometimes justifiable.

"In trial marriage one would feel that she were merely a package of merchandise taken on approval.

"Half the women lose their attractiveness a few years after marriage. There should be a school of instruction for women on this point. This, it seems to me, is one of the crowning needs of this transitional age. It is of paramount importance that the married woman should retain her charm—if she is to retain her husband. I speak of this in a general sense.

"I believe in love, but marriage doesn't necessarily make love last.

"It may be that people think that a trial divorce is strange. But isn't it better to face the situation squarely rather than sneak around a corner away from it? It is not the fault of the theory of trial divorce that one of us has not found happiness."

Funny Facts; Not Fiction

Cheese Stops a Train.

ST. PAUL, April 2.—A Bulgarian family of immigrants and a two-pound case of aged limburger cheese caused a near panic among the first-class passengers and stopped the Pioneer Limited from the East. The odor of the cheese drove the men to the vestibule. The women breathed through their muffs and they, too, fled to the smoking compartment. In this city efforts at ventilation caused a delay of five minutes.

Shoe Under Bed Wrecks Home.

NEW YORK, April 2.—A shoe that stuck out from under the edge of his wife's bed and had a man's foot in it, broke up John Lary's Forty-fourth street home. Mrs. Lary is suing him for a legal separation, and he has made charges against her. "Looking down, I saw a shoe," he said. "I grabbed hold of it and pulled a man out from under the bed."

15 Chicks from 13 Eggs.

LUDLOW, April 2.—William Hobson, candidate for tree warden, who had placed thirteen eggs under a setting hen about four weeks ago, was surprised this morning when his hen hatched fifteen little chicks. Mr. Hobson has always advocated a probe into the high cost of living, but he says that hereafter he will turn his attention to his setting hen.

Mrs. Booth Wants Cats Belled.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., April 2.—Mrs. Maud Ballington Booth, head of the American Volunteers, whose home is in this town, has made an appeal to the bird lovers to bell their cats. She says she has observed with grief how many cats will prowl into gardens and lie in wait under the bushes for the thrushes, robins and other birds.

Gets Two Hatpin Wounds.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 2.—Robert Bailey, elevator operator at the State House, was jabbed in the face by hatpins on two occasions to-day and one of the stabs came near costing him an eye. "I have been ducking and dodging all morning to save my eyes," complained Bailey to the Governor.

THREE INJURED IN NEW HAVEN WRECK

JEWETT CITY, Ct., April 2.—A wrecking train making thirty miles an hour today crashed into the caboose of boat freight train No. 772 of the New Haven road near here. Three trainmen in the caboose were seriously hurt. The freight was stalled by a broken airbrake. The injured: Conductor Needham; Flagman Murphy; Brakeman Healy. Murphy will die.

30,000 MORE HOMELESS IN ETNA'S FURY

CATANIA, Sicily, April 2.—Thirty thousand villagers and peasants about Mt. Etna were buffeted by a tempest to-day, but refused to take shelter in their homes in spite of rain and the constant downpour of ashes. Women and children slept in the rain.

The destruction of Cavaliere, a small village, has wrought the terror of the people to its highest point. The eruption continues with unabated fury. Other towns and villages seem doomed.

All night long by the light of the volcano's flames, soldiers, police and peasants worked at the outskirts of Borello throwing up a dyke about the reservoir there for which the lava is heading. Scientists declared that the mixture of the red-hot out pouring of the mountain and the water would produce an explosion sufficient to destroy Borello.

So terrific is the heat from the lava now that it is impossible to get within a hundred yards of them.

Parties of natives, led by priests, coming to pray, were to-day forced to flee for their lives, leaving the images in the red-hot lava.

The clergy are making every effort to calm the people and induce them to place their faith in divine intervention. In the open spaces toward which the lava is holding temporarily shrines in some instances have been erected, and services held there while explosive blasts from the mountain mingle with the prayers.

MILLIONAIRE'S GIRL HELD FOR RANSOM

NEW YORK, April 2.—The police told to-day that Mildred Rudd, the fifteen-year-old daughter of George Rudd, the millionaire real estate broker of the Bronx, who was a member of the "Rockefeller millionaire grand jury," which investigated "white slave" traffic, has been missing since Tuesday. The police say they believe that the girl is either held for ransom or has been made a victim of "white slave" traders. Rudd received a mysterious telephone message in which he was told that he could have his daughter back "for a big enough sum of money."

MRS. CHASE LEAVES $19,000 TO FRIENDS

The will of Mrs. Salome Chase, wife of the late Caleb Chase of Chase & Sanborn, was filed to-day at Dedham. The estate is over half a million dollars and does not contain any property left by Mr. Chase. She left $19,000 to friends in sums averaging $1,000. Three servants and two coachmen receive $500 each. Three-tenths goes to Frank C. Heney of Boston, her secretary; two-tenths to her niece, May Peterson of Lynn; one-tenth to her sister, Clara Stetson of Quincy.

PROF. BOWNE'S DEATH COMES AS SURPRISE

The sudden death of Dr. Borden Parker Bowne, professor of philosophy and dean of the graduate School of Arts and Sciences of Boston University, comes as a great shock to his widow and many friends. Dr. Bowne lectured as usual before his classes, but taken suddenly ill, left for his home at No. 380 Longwood avenue and died a few hours later.

FORMER BOSTON BROKER IS HELD FOR BURGLARY

Philip D. Wheatland, formerly a prominent clubman and stock broker in this city, is under arrest in San Francisco, charged with burglary. He is a graduate of Harvard and the son of Major George George Wheatland, one of Salem's most prominent men. He married twice, and ten years ago his business failed and he went West to recoup his losses.

He was first married to Miss Pratt, a prominent society belle of Salem and a granddaughter of Rufus Choate. They were later divorced and she recently became the wife of Herman Burr, a young millionaire. She resides at No. 56 Chestnut street.

Wheatland was recognized by the bailiff when he appeared in court in San Francisco as having been in the same court on a similar charge six years ago. At that time he claimed he was the son of a retired capitalist of this city and was living with his wife at the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco. He was suffering from periodical attacks of insanity, and when laboring under them developed into a kleptomaniac. He was sent to the Napa Insane Asylum.

Wheatland admitted he was the same man, and said he was looking for a flat when arrested. He said he saw the occupants of the flat were moving and merely went in to see it.

Miss B. Hultberg, the occupant of the flat, said two satchels had been stolen. A new one was empty, but an old one contained $100. She claims she saw Wheatland leaving with the satchel and gave the alarm. Wheatland was arrested and the stolen satchel was found in a lot, where, it is said, he had thrown it. His case has been continued until Monday.

Wheatland comes of a good family, and is well connected in many ways. He is a cousin by marriage to J. Pierpont Morgan and a brother-in-law of one of the Boston Peabodys. He is also related to Miss Endicott who married Joseph Chamberlain.

7 NEW PITTSBURG GRAFT INDICTMENTS

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 2.—The grand jury to-day recommended indictments for bribery against Morris Einstein and six councilmen. A small army of present and former councilmen have ignored District Attorney Blakeley's offer of leniency. They say they are innocent and have no confessions to make. There are forty-eight of these men and the name of every one appears on the trial list for next week.

MAINE ICE VESSEL OBSTRUCTING MAILS

NEWPORT, April 2.—The three-masted schooner Lucy Friend, Captain Lowney, ice laden, from Bath, Me., is hung up on the mud flats in front of the Saunderstown ferry in Newport harbor. She is being libelled $100 daily for obstructing the Saunderstown ferry boat, carrying United States mail.

C. E. Van Loan, the fistic expert, says in his article that will appear in to-morrow's SUNDAY AMERICAN that Jeff has no cinch in the coming big fight and that Johnson will show no yellow streak.

Improved Car Service

Subway and Boylston Street

On account of the large number of cars now run over the tracks on Boylston Street and in the subway, between Copley Square and Park Street, and in order to provide for a more rapid movement on these tracks, and to better utilize other surface and subway tracks, it has been determined to run some of these cars on other tracks which are not so much used. It is the Company's intention to run some of these cars to Park Street by that part of the Subway which is entered at Pleasant Street, at the junction of Tremont Street and Shawmut Avenue, and other cars by way of the Cambridge Bridge to Scollay Square. During the "rush hours" in the forenoon and afternoon about forty cars an hour will be diverted from the Boylston Street tracks. Accordingly, on and after Tuesday, April 5, 1910, the following changes will be made:

The Newton and Watertown line via Mt. Auburn Street, and the North Cambridge line via Beacon Street, Somerville will be run to Scollay Square via Cambridge Bridge.

The Spring Hill-Subway line via Prospect Street will be run in part through Central Square to River St. Car House, Cambridge.

The Milton-Crosstown regular line and the Grove Hall-Crosstown extras will be run via Northampton Street and SHAWMUT AVENUE to the Subway.

The Fields Corner-Crosstown afternoon extras will be run outward on Huntington Avenue from Dartmouth Street only.

The
MOST INTERESTING FURNITURE STORE

As a matter of fact, ours is the largest furniture store in the United States.

Twenty-one floors filled with furniture and furnishings.

Our own wood-working, mattress and upholstery factories, our own designers, our own textile shops.

Rug, drapery and wall-paper departments that are a great business in themselves.

A range of choice in styles, designs, finishes, prices, that is truly remarkable.

Yet mere size means little.

Our proudest title is not the largest but the most interesting furniture store in the United States.

QUELL SUBWAY STRIKE RIOTERS, JAIL LEADER

Prompt action by the Cambridge police to-day checked riotous demonstrations in Harvard square, where 2,500 subway workmen are on strike.

Frank Rogorio of Fleet street, Boston, was arrested on a charge of disturbing the peace early to-day. He was hustled to Cambridge District Court and sentenced to two months in the House of Correction. Patrolmen Aberle and Gavin, who made the arrest, said that Rogorio was trying to start trouble for carpenters who were still working in the subway trenches and that he was about to hurl a stone when arrested.

Trouble to-day arose over an effort on the part of the strikers to persuade a gang of carpenters who were working in the open trenches to lay down their tools. The strikers began to hurl sticks at them.

It was at this moment that Rogorio appeared on the scene and it is said he gave the signal to "start something." Rogorio, the police say, picked up a stone and hurled it into the crowd of workmen. Policemen Aberle and Gavin were at the other end of the square and they had difficulty in pushing their way through the crowd of excited strikers. Stones and sticks were hurled at them.

But with drawn clubs they forced their way through and managed to get Rogorio, who put up a stiff battle. The heavy clubs of the police stopped the other strikers from going to the aid of their arrested companion.

Good Bye Wrinkles

BEAUTIFUL BUST

SUPERFLUOUS HAIR VANISHES LIKE MAGIC BY NEW TREATMENT

Let this woman send you free, full particulars, follow her instructions, then if you are pleased, recommend her wonderful method to your friends.

SHE LOOKS LIKE A GIRL OF 18

This clever woman has not a wrinkle upon her face; she has discovered a marvelous, simple method which brought a wonderful change in her face in a single night. For removing wrinkles and developing the bust, her method is truly wonderfully rapid. She is fast becoming famous as the most expert beauty culturist in the world.

She made herself the woman she is today and brought about the wonderful change in her appearance in a secret and pleasant manner. Her complexion is as clear and fair as that of a child. She turned her scrawny figure into a beautiful bust and well-developed form.

You can imagine her joy, when, by her own simple treatment, she removed every wrinkle from her face and developed her thin neck and form to beautiful proportions.

Nothing is taken into the stomach, no masks or common massage, no harmful plasters, no rollers, no worthless creams.

By her remarkable process, she removes wrinkles and develops the whole figure plump and fat.

Mme. Cuningham, in an interview, admitted the wonderful success of her various new treatments and said she was trying to do a great good by unselfishly offering her wonderful methods to unattractive girls and women. It is said that this new treatment for wrinkles is the most marvelous ever known and that almost in a single night deep lines and wrinkles are removed from the face and that anyone may look from 20 to 30 years younger.

It is simply astonishing the hundreds of women who write in regarding the wonderful results from this new beauty treatment, which is beautifying their face and form after beauty doctors and all other methods failed. Hundreds of women report astonishing results, and we are glad to make known the wonderful merits of an honest method which is deserving of such remarkable success as has crowned the efforts of this lovely woman. Mrs. E. Pahnke writes in that nearly every wrinkle left her face in one week, after using this wonderful treatment. Jennie Cook writes in that the results were wonderful. Margaret Cowan says this remarkable treatment beautifully cleared her face of wrinkles, and she says life is well worth living after all, when such a treatment prevents the appearance of age. Mrs. J. B. Johnson writes that under the treatment her complexion is wonderfully improved, and her bust is developing nicely. Mary Marritt, of Wisconsin, writes her wrinkles have entirely disappeared. Miss Hanson writes her bust is beautifully developed. Mrs. Markham writes, she has not a wrinkle left. The valuable new beauty book which Madame Cuningham is sending free to thousands of women is certainly a blessing to womankind, as it makes known her remarkable methods of beautifying the face and figure of unattractive women.

All our readers should write her at once and she will send you absolutely free, particulars regarding her various new beauty treatments and will show our readers how to quickly remove wrinkles; how to develop the bust; how to make long, thick eyelashes and eyebrows; how to instantly remove superfluous hair; how to remove blackheads, pimples and freckles; how to remove dark circles under the eyes; how to quickly remove double chin; how to build up sunken cheeks and add flesh to the body; how to darken gray hair and stop hair falling.

Simply address your letter to Evelyn Cuningham, Suite 268, 7 Randolph st., Chicago, Ill., and don't send any money, because particulars are free, as this charming woman is doing her utmost to benefit girls or women in need of secret information, which will add to their beauty and make life sweeter and lovelier in every way.

Everything she sends is free and private, and she wants every woman, mother, wife or girl to write for her famous beauty secrets and her valuable Beauty Book, "Nature's Way to Beauty," which will be sent free. Now is the time to write and learn her beauty secrets, lest your beauty passes, even as the petal of a rose withers into the drift of yesterday's flower.

The world would be better off if there were a few more kind women like this in it.

BRIBERY NOW HINTED IN THE PINCHOT CASE

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Charges intimating bribery were contained in the evidence brought out to-day before the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee. United States Marshal H. K. Love of Fairbanks, Alaska, formerly special agent of the Interior Department, was on the witness stand under cross-examination by Attorney Brandeis. He was being interrogated upon a conversation which he had had with John W. Dudley, formerly register and receiver of the land office at Juneau, Alaska. As Brandeis had about concluded his inquiry, Mr. Love remarked incidentally, "And I can tell you something more Dudley said."

"What is that?" asked Brandeis.

"He told me that Collier's Weekly had intimated to him that it would be worth from $5,000 to $10,000 for him to come to Washington and testify."

Making More Money.

Instantly the members of the committee were aroused and the witness was subjected to a rigid examination by Representatives Madison and James.

"Tell us all about this conversation," demanded Representative Madison. "We met in the Occidental Hotel at Juneau," Love went on, "and Dudley told me he had been superseded as register and receiver, but that as a matter of fact he was making more money than ever before in the land business. He then told me he had received an intimation from Collier's Weekly that it would be worth from $5,000 to $10,000 for him to testify in Washington.

"Did you understand from that he intended to convey the idea that Collier's Weekly wanted to bribe him to testify?" asked Representative Madison.

"Not to bribe him, but to pay him," replied the witness.

"You are able to draw a finer line of distinction than I am," said Representative Madison.

Complaint by Dudley.

Love said that Dudley complained to him that he had been let out of the registrary and receiver's office and that he was going to take the matter up at the Interior Department.

Love said that Dudley had requested him to tell Ballinger of the intimation he had received from Collier's Weekly, but that he would testify for Mr. Ballinger if he came to Washington.

Love said that he had not informed Ballinger of what Dudley had told him.

"Do you mean to say that you have been here for thirty days and have not communicated that important matter to any one?" asked Representative James.

"No, sir, I don't think I have," replied the witness.

Love went on to say that he did not believe Collier's Weekly expected Dudley to testify to anything but what they believed and he believed to be the truth.

Upon demand of Representative Madison and Representative James the committee voted to call Dudley as a witness, and he will be summoned. In answer to questions by Senator Purcell and Senator Fletcher, Love said that Dudley did not appear to resent the offer made to him by Collier's Weekly.

GUILD NEW HEAD OF SCOTTISH RITE BODY

Four decades were spanned by Boston Lafayette Lodge of Perfection, A. A. S. R., when it elected as its head Illustrious Curtis Guild, Jr., 33d degree, the position occupied by his father about forty years ago. The choice was unanimous. Past Thrice Potent Master Rowell introduced the newly elected master as "the worthy son of a worthy sire," and the applause indicated the popularity of the choice.

The other officers are John J. Van Valkenburgh, South Framingham, 32d degree, D. M.; Oscar Storer, Melrose, 32d degree, S. W.; Melvin M. Johnson, Waltham, 32d degree, J. W.; David T. Montague, Boston, 32d degree, orator; Joseph W. Work, Newton, 33d degree, treasurer; Benjamin W. Rowell, Lynn, 33d degree, secretary, and Samuel C. Lawrence, Medford, 33d degree, trustee of permanent fund for three years.

HUNT BOY IN WOODS.

MEREDITH, N. H., April 2.—A number of students of the New Hampton Institute to-day began a search in the woods for traces of Raymond Perry, the sixteen-year-old son of George W. Perry of No. 178 Main street, Stoneham, who has been missing since March 23, when he boarded a train to come here. The authorities believe the boy was waylaid and robbed.

Personal Items

OWEN WISTER, the novelist, and his wife while returning from Juarez, Mexico, to El Paso, were taken from a street car by United States officials and searched as suspected opium smugglers. Wister is in poor health. He was very indignant.

NIXOLA GREELEY-SMITH, granddaughter of Horace Greeley and a newspaper writer, was married at Greenwich Ct., to Andrew W. Ford, a New York newspaper man. The ceremony was performed in the office of the Greenwich News.

DR. CHARLES W. ELIOT, Richard W. Dana and Elliott H. Goodwin of the National Civil Service Reform League conferred with President Taft yesterday as to further extensions of the civil service among government employes.

COMMANDER PEARY will be a guest of Vice-President Sherman Monday. Commander Peary will address the students at the Utica Free Academy in the afternoon, and Monday evening will speak at the banquet of the Utica Chamber of Commerce.

PHILANDER C. KNOX, JR., and his bride had a hard time dodging reporters and photographers at Detroit. They kept out of range of the former, but they failed to escape being snapshotted. A Chicago photographer got the pictures.

NAT GOODWIN will retire from the stage after his next tour and devote all his time to his southern California interests, principally ranching. It is announced here.

CHARLES S. FRANCIS, the retiring American Ambassador to Austria-Hungary, had a cordial leave-taking at the hands of Emperor Francis Joseph. Mr. Francis will leave Vienna for Paris next week and will sail for the United States April 27.

MRS. RUSSELL SAGE, accompanied by her nephew, Major Slocum, has returned to New York. Despite rumors of ill-health, Mrs. Sage appeared to be in better condition than when she left for California some weeks ago. She carried across the continent a child's gift of Easter lilies.

A Cure for Asthma

Do you want a cure for your Asthma? Then it will pay you to write to P. HAROLD HAYES, Buffalo, N. Y., and ask him for Bulletin H-1014 which tells of the marvellous results of the Hayes Method of treating the disease, which are wonderful indeed, even in these days of amazing medical advances and discoveries. The Hayes treatment not only promptly relieves the spasms, abates the cough, restores the health and enables the patient to eat and sleep and work, but cures PERMANENTLY where directions are carried out. Examination free by mail and treatment at home directed by careful correspondence, so that anybody who really wants a cure can get it.

LYNN SUSPECT ON WAY HERE

LYNN, April 2.—Inspector Stacey Burckes of the Lynn police department and State Officer Arthur G. Welles of Lynn to-day started home from Bulgaria with their prisoner, Vahan Nalbandian, who is charged with the murder of Mimas Momjian at Lynn on July 22 last.

Chief of Police Burckes to-day received a cablegram from Inspector Burckes, dated Fiume, Bulgaria, in which the official said that he and Officer Welles sailed to-day from that port on the Ultonia. They are expected to arrive here in about fifteen days.

Nalbandian is charged by the Lynn police with shooting Momjian in the head and then crushing the man, who was still living, into a trunk. Robbery is alleged by the police to have been the motive. Nalbandian was arrested in Bulgaria January 29. He has been twice indicted for murder by the Essex County Grand Jury, the second time to correct an error in the first indictment.

POTHIER TO PROBE ARREST OF WARREN

PROVIDENCE, April 2.—Governor Pothier wants the District Attorney of Suffolk County, Mass., to explain why he wants Franklin Herrick Warren sent back to Boston on the requisition of Governor Draper. The extradition papers charge Warren with being a polygamist.

Governor Potheir sent an invitation for the Boston prosecuting officer to attend the hearing on the case here next Tuesday. Warren's counsel, Henry W. Stiness of this city declares that there is some ulterior motive in the move at Boston by the District Attorney. Governor Pothier is so impressed with the point raised that he has declined to send Warren back without a further hearing.

MORE EMPLOYERS SIGN PAINT SCALE

With only seventy of their 1,150 members idle to-day, following their strike for higher wages yesterday, the officers of Painters' Union No. 11 celebrated what they call one of the greatest labor victories in Boston. Additional settlements made with a number of small firms to-day placed a number of the men back at work. It is expected that every man will be employed at the increased wage rate by Monday at the latest. The new wage scale calls for $20 for house painters and $22.20 for decorators, with a forty-four-hour week. The old scale was $18.04 and $20.24.

FINED FOR CONTEMPT IN DISTRICT COURT

For persisting in interrupting the court, Judge Logan in the South Boston court to-day fined Thomas McDonough $10 for contempt. He was also given two months in the House of Correction for assault and battery. He also sentenced Thomas O'Toole to serve two months, and fined John and Andrew O'Toole $15 each. The men were arrested for fighting at the house No. 127 Bolton street, South Boston, last night. It was testified that the men used axes in their mixup. They were all bandaged when they appeared in court.

CHRISTEN BABY SIX FEET HIGH

NEW YORK, April 2.—A three months' old baby, six feet tall, was christened at the circus in Madison Square Garden. His godmother was Mme. Jane Noria, opera singer, and on an infant giraffe she bestowed the name Bambino. Water was poured on his head from a silver cup. Then a silver heart with an inscription was tied around his neck.

W. W. Naughton, the coast fistic authority, tells of the most effective punches of great fighters in his article that will appear in the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN.

CHURCH INVITES TO PRIZE FIGHT

ATLANTA, Ga., April 2.—Post cards sent out by the chairman of the Board of Deacons of the Western Heights Baptist Church contain invitations to attend a "prize fight" in the church on April 4.

Church officials admit there will be a boxing bout, but decline to tell between whom. It is believed the fighters will be two members of the church athletic club.

TRAIN DITCHED, ONE DEAD.

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., April 2.—A passenger train running from Roanoke to Portsmouth left the track near Watts Station, forty miles south of Kenova, and several cars rolled down an embankment. John Griffith of Portsmouth, O., was killed and a dozen passengers are reported seriously injured.

LAW PUT UP TO TAFT.

WASHINGTON, April 2.—By a vote of 132 to 123 the House adopted a provision amending the corporation tax law so as to provide for publicity of corporations returns upon the discretion of the President alone, instead of upon discretion of the President or upon the request of the Senate or the House.

SUBURBAN SALES LEAD IN REALTY

Suburban properties were again to-day the feature in real estate sales, although a number of good city parcels were transferred.

In Roxbury, Israel Nesson has taken title from Mary L. Preston to the Hotel Harvard, covering 6,467 square feet of land and all assessed for $49,400, at the corner of Huntington and Longwood avenues and St. Alphonsus and Ward streets. The land is rated for $14,400.

In the same suburb the two large brick stables, frame shed and 16,402 square feet of land, all taxed on a valuation of $48,000, at No. 384 Warren street, extending through to Maywood street, have been sold by the George S. Tarbell Company to Charles H. Fox et al. The land is assessed for $12,800.

Eva M. Nesson has conveyed to John A. Preston the frame house, stable and 10,950 square feet of land at No. 18 Melville avenue, near Cooper street, Dorchester. This estate is assessed on a total valuation of $14,500, of which amount $6,900 is on the land.

Max Hebenstreet has sold to Jacob Pearl the frame dwelling and 3,088 square feet of land at No. 6 Fayson street, near Blue Hill avenue, Dorchester, all taxed for $5,000. The land is assessed for $1,400.

Another Dorchester estate sold is that at No. 5 Albion street, near Dudley street, comprising a frame house, stable and 4,000 square feet of land, all assessed for $4,000, which has been purchased by Charles R. Fuller from Grace B. S. Mead. The land is assessed for $1600.

John F. Eager has sold to Joseph A. Moore, the title coming through Arthur T. Gibson, two frame houses and 2,264 square feet of land on Seafe street, near Cook street, Charlestown. This property is taxed on a total valuation of $8,000, of which $1,600 is on the land.

In West Roxbury the frame house and 2,106 square feet of land at No. 163 Boylston street, near Amory street, have been sold by Albert L. Zepp et al. and Henry Zepp to Anna W. Stirling. The property is assessed for a total of $3100, of which $800 is on the land.

In the same suburb the large tract of land at the corner of Clifford and Perkins streets and Dew avenue, containing 40,114 square feet and rated for $1,000, has been sold by Anna Lee et al. to Lillian M. Corrigan, the title passing through Edwin C. Jenney.

The sale of the Continental building, Nos. 1317-1323 Washington street, belonging to the estate of William T. Haskell, is reported through the office of W. J. McDonald, No. 95 Milk street. The building covers the entire lot, which contains 9,838 square feet, with a frontage of 100 feet on Washington street and 98 feet on Waltham street, four stories high, with a white marble front, being one of the few buildings of that style in Boston. It contains nine suites and four stores. The land is assessed at the rate of $5 per foot, and the building is at $48,000, making a total assessment of $77,[illegible]. The trustees were represented by John W. Allen, and the title passed to W. Stanley Tripp. This is one of the largest deals made in the South End for a long time, and there are several other large sales pending in the same neighborhood.

EXPLORING CAREER DONE, SAYS PEARY

CHICAGO, April 2.—Commander Robert E. Peary, who is in Chicago, in an interview said:

"I am absolutely at the end of my career as an explorer. Reports that I am to lead an expedition into the Antarctic regions are not true, and I certainly do not contemplate another trip to the North Pole."

CURRIER FUNERAL.

The funeral of Sereno Edwards Dwight Currier, father of the school-garden movement, who died Thursday, will be held at his late residence, No. 2 Cedar street, Roxbury, at 2 o'clock to-morrow. Mr. Currier was seventy-six. He was born in Methuen, was graduated from Harvard in 1857, taught school and practised law. He introduced the first school garden in America when he was teaching in Hingham. He was a member of the Appalachian Mountain Club. He leaves a widow, formerly Miss M. L. Josephine Perry of Roxbury.

CARNEGIE, IN WAR ON GRAFT, FAINTS TWICE

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 2.—While dictating a long statement intended for the people of Pittsburg Andrew Carnegie was compelled to stop, because of a fainting spell. Later he had another one. He turned white and seemed on the verge of falling, but pluckily resumed dictation.

While Mrs. Carnegie and friends were much concerned about his condition, he insisted the fainting spells were due to his limb, which was injured recently. Friends say he had become worked up to so high a pitch over developments in Pittsburg graft that by the time he reached here he was unstrung. He admitted his pain over Pittsburg's disgrace from recent exposures of municipal corruption.

Tears ran down Mr. Carnegie's cheeks as he wrung the hand of Edward M. Bigelow, former director of public safety and his personal friend, and begged him to tell "all about this awful graft." His eyes blazed and he paced up and down the room as he learned the details.

"Eddie, I'm ready to go to Governor Stuart and ask him to pardon these boys," cried Mr. Carnegie to Bigelow, as he pounded his fist on the table, referring to some of the men already in prison in the graft and bribery business. "I don't think they are to blame."

Regarding Mr. Rockefeller's foundation idea, Mr. Carnegie said:

"I know nothing more than what has been printed in the press, but I do not believe much in so-called philanthropy. The submerged tenth should be dealt with by the State, and the day is coming when that class will be taken by the State officials and housed, clothed, bathed and fed, but never allowed to marry."

CARPENTERS GIVEN EIGHT-HOUR DAY

BANGOR, Me., April 2.—Bangor carpenters have begun work on an eight-hour day schedule, the same having been agreed upon by the contracting carpenters. The masons have asked a raise of fifty cents, an eight-hour day, but thus far the contracting masons have refused to grant the request. The masons receive $3.50 a day net and the contracting masons $4 a day from the customer.

HOW TO EXERCISE—Information of greatest value to men and women by Mme. Cavallieri in the Sunday American.

HIGH COST OF LIVING.

The high cost of living is partly due to the fact that the housewife does not always select the best and at the same time the most economical kinds of food.

There is nothing in the whole world that is more delicious, more healthful and more economical than a cup of Tudor tea. It is used by the wealthiest people and the most exclusive clubs because of its fragrant aroma. Physicians recommend it on account of its perfect purity and healthfulness—and yet, when made in accordance with the directions on the package, it costs but 1-10 of a cent per cup. In fact, if one is wasteful and uses more than ½ a teaspoonful per cup, the tea is not so good.

There are no stems or dust or coarse tannin bearing leaves or artificial coloring matter in this tea—the net weight and price are on every package.

MAKES COOKING PROBLEM EASY

To help solve the problem of the continuously increasing cost of living, Mrs. Alice Gitchell Kirk, one of the best known experts on cooking in this country and author of a noted cook book, will deliver a series of free lectures on economy in the kitchen and how to prepare dishes to meet the increased prices of foodstuffs, at an auditorium in the basement of the Henry Siegel Company store, beginning Monday morning.

To accommodate the hundreds of housewives who are expected to take advantage of the opportunity, the Henry Siegel Company is enlarging the auditorium especially for Mrs. Kirk. Special stress will be laid by Mrs. Kirk on how to prepare the cheaper dishes, how to take advantage of the less costly cuts of meat and how to save on materials that are ordinarily thrown away.

DOCTOR'S AUTO IS RUINED BY FLAME

While Dr. George L. Farrell of No. 440 Pleasant street, Malden, was cranking his automobile in his garage to-day a spark shot back into the machine and in an instant the car was ablaze. The doctor coolly stepped into the car and ran it out of the garage all afire as it was. Though fire apparatus came quickly in answer to an alarm the car was ruined.

TENOR CARUSO SEES MISS BURKE PLAY

Enrico Caruso has taken advantage of his Boston engagement to see Miss Billie Burke in "Mrs. Dot." The tenor, with a party of friends, attended the performance at the Hollis Street Theatre last night and vigorously applauded the winsome young star. Victor de Kiraly, manager for Miss Burke's company, greeted the singer and his party with a fine assortment of "issimos," which means in Italian all kinds of happy superlatives.

SQUARE DEAL

Medicines like those of Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, warrant their makers in printing their every ingredient which they do, upon their outside wrappers, verifying the correctness of the same under oath. This open publicity places these medicines in a class all by themselves. Furthermore, it warrants physicians in prescribing them largely as they do in their worst cases. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a most potent alterative or blood-purifier and tonic or invigorator, and acts especially favorably in a curative way upon all the mucous lining surfaces, as of the nasal passages, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach and bowels, curing a large per cent of catarrhal cases whether the disease affects the nasal passages, the throat, larynx, bronchia, stomach (as catarrhal dyspepsia), liver, bowels (as mucous diarrhoea), or other organs.

Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine of known composition. No counterfeit is as good as the genuine. See that you get what you ask for.

'WORCESTER IN HOLIDAY DRESS FOR PRESIDENT

WORCESTER, April 2—Buried in bunting, Old Glory flapping from thousands of homes and factory staffs, the people all expectant, with hundreds of delegates coming into the "Heart of the Commonwealth" by every train, this city to-day awaited the coming of the President of the United States.

President Taft comes here to address the largest and most important congress of railway operatives ever assembled. The four brotherhoods—the engineers, firemen, trainmen and conductors of all the States, the Dominion of Canada and Mexico will send delegates.

The Presidential train is scheduled to reach Millbury at 9:17 o'clock to-morrow morning, where committees in automobiles will welcome the chief executive and his party. On this committee from the brotherhoods will be Frank J. Symonds, John H. Parrant, Martin N. Doyle and Arthur J. Desoe.

Mr. Taft will be escorted to the home of his venerable aunt, Miss Delia Torrey, where he will have a New England breakfast with Aunt Delia and his brother, Horace Taft of the Taft School, Watertown, Ct.

TODAY'S STOCK MARKETS; FINANCIAL NEWS

PHONE STOCKS SLUMP HERE

STATE STREET—Both New York and Boston markets opened dull and featureless, changes where occurring being only fractional. Brokers who watched the trading during the first hour report buying orders coming from strong sources and in good volume, while the supply of stock was extremely small, and what there was looked like putting out of additional lines of shorts.

In New York, Norfolk & Western and the Hill issues seemed to be in greatest demand, while other railroads and industrials, after narrow fluctuations, reflected a better tone.

In Boston the same general tone prevailed as in New York, but buying was not as aggressive. This condition seemed to be brought about by the drive at American Telephone, which broke from 137 to 131½ on a good volume of selling. Rumors were again circulated that the telephone companies' executive department would be transferred to New York, but these were denied.

What caused the selling was that should the offices be moved to New York the bonds of the company would probably cease to be legal investments for Massachusetts savings banks as under the law a majority of the board of directors must live in Massachusetts.

MOTHER AND SON DIE IN THE SAME HOUR

CHICAGO, April 2.—Word has been received here of the death in a Philadelphia hotel, from apoplexy, of Robert W. Patterson, president of the Chicago Tribune Company. By a tragic coincidence, Mrs. Julia A. Patterson, mother of Mr. Patterson, is dead in Chicago, aged eighty-seven years. The son died half an hour before a message announcing the mother's death was received at the hotel.

SHARP FIGHT NEXT WEEK IN GLOVER CASE

When the Glover will contest is resumed in the East Cambridge Probate Court on Tuesday, Lawyer Samuel Elmore will make a fight to exclude any further evidence about the murder of Clarence F. Glover and will insist that the contestants have not shown any substantial reason for the overthrow of the will. It is expected that he will ask that the case be decided in favor of the will.

Should a decision be rendered by Judge McIntire against Elmore, he may proceed to introduce evidence that would tend to show that there was no undue influence in the making of the will. When that is finished, the contestants would again take up the question of attempting to show that Mrs. Lillian M. Glover "caused the death of her husband," as they charge in their complaint.

The will contestants say that they have important testimony to offer on this phase of the matter, and should they be able to get it before the Court there would probably be a repetition of the sensations that have characterized the Glover case from the start.

AMATEURS AT COLUMBIA

There was heaps of fun at the Columbia Theatre last night when a really extraordinary lot of amateurs were given a chance to show what they could do. There was an unusual lot of young and clever girls among the contestants. The two Days, boy and girl dancers, took the first prize, while it was necessary to divide the second between Walter Taylor, and [illegible] Houdini, and May Godfrey, sailor hornpipe dancer.

SAGE FORTUNE FOR LOW RATE LOANS TO POOR

NEW YORK, April 2.—Following the return of Mrs. Russell Sage from the West, the announcement was made to-day that the widow of the famous money lender of Wall street had decided to turn her millions into loans to the poor. The plan has been worked out and awaits her final approval, her object being to take the unfortunate poor from the hands of professional money lenders and usurers, giving them an opportunity to raise money at the lowest possible rate.

Mrs. Sage's plan provides for the establishment of State-wide loan agencies, each bringing to the doors of the needy an establishment where they may raise money without paying exorbitant interest.

Orion E. Cheney, State Superintendent of Banks, was called upon for assistance by the members of the Sage Foundation. The plan was gone into with the greatest care, and every detail worked over, until Mrs. Sage's idea was developed on a practical, philanthropic basis.

"BLACK HAND" CHIEF SHOT TO DEATH IN TRAP

NEW YORK, April 2.—Lured into a trap by Antonio Morda, a wealthy wholesale baker, whom he tried to blackmail, [illegible], said by the police to be the leader of an international blackhand gang, was fatally shot to-day by the baker in front of the latter's home, after he demanded $5,000 under pain of death.

Morda, after shooting the man twice, surrendered to Patrolman Kowan. The dying man, with three others, according to the story told by Morda, called at his home last night and demanded $5,000. Morda said the men threatened him and his family with death by blowing up the house.

ONE DOSE ENDS INDIGESTION, HEARTBURN OR GAS ON STOMACH

Why not get some now—this moment, and forever rid yourself of Stomach trouble and Indigestion? A dieted stomach gets the blues and grumbles. Give it a good eat, then take Pape's Diapepsin to start the digestive juices working. There will be no dyspepsia or belching of Gas or eructations of undigested food; no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach or heartburn, sick headache and Dizziness, and your food will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors.

Pape's Diapepsin costs only 50 cents for a large case at any drug store here, and will relieve the most obstinate case of Indigestion and Upset Stomach in five minutes.

There is nothing else better to take Gas from Stomach and cleanse the stomach and intestines, and, besides, one single dose will digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all your food the same as a sound, healthy stomach would do it.

When Diapepsin works, your stomach rests—gets itself in order, cleans up—and then you feel like eating when you come to the table, and what you eat will do you good.

Absolute relief from all Stomach Misery is waiting for you as soon as you decide to take a little Diapepsin. Tell your druggist that you want Pape's Diapepsin, because you want to become thoroughly cured this time.

Remember, if your stomach feels out of order and uncomfortable now you can get relief in five minutes.

NO CHANCE TO STOP BIG FIGHT SAYS GLEASON

NEW YORK, April 2.—Jack Gleason blew into town to interview the big railroad men here in regard to holding and selling ringside seats for the big fight. Almost every road running out of Chicago will handle seats along with railroad tickets, and Jack wants it that way in New York, too.

Gleason isn't at all worried over the story that the Oakland Church Federation has engaged Attorney Carlos White to find a way to stop the holding of the fight at Emeryville.

"They can't interfere in any way," said Gleason. "We are holding the contest under the law of the State of California, which allows boxing contests of a limited number of rounds. Oakland has no jurisdiction whatever in Emeryville. Emeryville is a town governed under its own charter, just like Oakland, and has no connection with Oakland at all. They are two towns in the same county.

"It is a simple business proposition just like any other amusement enterprise, and not even the Governor of the State would have a right to hinder or prevent the match. I heard the news of the attempted interference when it came over the wire, but do not intend to pay any attention to it."

GAMES AGAINST STRONG CLUBS HELP DOVES

By W. H. ROSS.

ATLANTA, Ga., April 2.—This is a prohibition town, where a large percentage of the population drink over open bars what is known here as "near beer."

It is called lager beer everywhere else in the world, and is denominated "near" in Georgia in order to beat out the law.

The Doves are a temperate bunch and don't bother with the brewery stuff, but the trouble with them on the ball field was that they made too many "near" plays.

Liese Was Very Loose.

But the work of Liese wasn't near to anything good. He was as far from playing ball like any kind of a leaguer as the Halley comet is at present from the planet Uranus, which is supposed to be in such a remote region of the solar system as not to have an untoward effect upon any mundane affairs.

The Doves are in as good physical shape, man for man, as probably any club in the country, but the team needs more practice against strong clubs, and it is a good thing for the organization that it has got another game here, two in Chattanooga and two in Louisville before it gets back into the home section.

Beals Becker got his batting eye on the ball for the first time. All the Spring he has been popping the sphere up into the air for infielders to gobble when it came down, but once in the first Atlanta game he met the ball square and fair, and tenants of the press box said it was the longest drive ever seen on the Ponce de Leon grounds. The ball travelled on a parabolic curve to the end of the outfield and then climbed a steep bank for a few miles and hid behind the score board. Becker was almost home before they found the ball.

Team Splits Up.

They have yet to strike the stride they can hit. The second squad left for Birmingham, Ala., last night, where there is a game scheduled with the Doves for to-day. The regular Doves stayed here in Atlanta to play the Crackers once more.

The ball park here is one of the finest in the country. The field is big and the grand stand large enough to seat all the strap hangers bound for Sullivan square during a rush hour.

Nothing came, it appears, out of Manager Fred Lake's long conversations in Atlanta with Manager John J. McGraw of the Giant team. McGraw has three New York ball teams making one-day stands in the sunny Southland just now, and under the new National League rules will have to let twenty-two of them go within a few weeks. In fact there will be a small army of ball players turned loose by the big league clubs pretty soon.

President Dovey and Manager Lake have keen eyes searching the horizon and mean to strengthen the Doves, if prayer, persuasion or yielding up coin will do it. The manager of the Doves is doing his level best with the material at hand.

JEFF'S LIFE STORY

TAD'S story of the life and battles of Jim Jeffries, which has been printed serially in the Evening American, will be a feature of the Sunday American. In the instalment which will be printed next Snuday Tad tells of the early life of the man who will attempt to regain the world's heavyweight title from Jack Johnson on July 4.

RED SOX ALL PREPARED FOR MEMPHIS BATTLES

By A. H. C. MITCHELL.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., April 2.—Speaker has gone to Little Rock—sixty miles from here—and will join the team again when it passes through Little Rock to-morrow afternoon on the way to Memphis, where they play the local club on Monday. Tris played there two seasons ago and has many friends he wishes to see before leaving for Northern parts. Donovan readily gave the great centre fielder permission to go on ahead, as Tris is in grand form, having rounded to very rapidly. He seems to be better than he ever was, and Boston fans know what that means.

Lewis will play centre field for the Regulars, with Hooper in left and Niles in right.

Best Practice Yet.

These last two days of practice are just what the Red Sox needed to smooth off the rough edges. With the Cincinnati players here there was no real good opportunity for Donovan to go into details with his team. The last two days has given him a chance to make the boys work on inside matters. Yesterday's practice, Donovan declared, was the very best the team has had at Hot Springs. The hit and run was perfected from every angle, and when the work ended the players knew considerably more about this important play than they ever did before.

Little Amby McConnell took his regular place in practice, and the game he put up filled his comrades with joy. At this writing it looks as though the little fellow would enjoy a season like the one he had in 1908, when he batted for close to 300 and led the team in stolen bases. Mac will lead the batting list this year, and he unquestionably is the best man to do the trick. He seldom offers at a bad ball, and a pitcher who is not thoroughly warmed up has no business pitching to the little fellow.

Donovan has coached him to play nearer second base than he used to. He covers lots of ground to the left of him, and his greatest fault heretofore has been his inability to get the balls hit to the right of him. He played so far from the bag that he could not properly cover it on throws down to catch stealers, and he frequently muffed the throws, as patrons of the Huntington avenue grounds will recall. In his new stamping grounds he seems to get everything in sight. With little Mac back in old-time form, the Red Sox will be greatly strengthened.

The work of McConnell was easily the feature of the afternoon's session.

McLean Stays with Cincis.

The Cincinnatis have gone home, and quite a crowd of fans were at the depot to see them off. Big Larry McLean went along with them. He is under suspension, but he says he will report to the club when the season opens in perfect condition, and says the club will either have to pay him his salary or dispose of him to some other club. Many observers of the trouble between McLean and Manager Griffith believe that the old fox has been too severe with the big catcher. McLean has his little weaknesses and he simply cannot help cutting up once in a while.

Manager Donovan has received a letter from Mike Kelly, manager of the St. Paul club, in which he says that Daniel Howard, the Lowell outfielder secured by the Red Sox and turned over to St. Paul, broke several bones in his ankle in a game at Excelsior Springs, Mo., last Saturday, and may be out of the game for many weeks. Kelly said Howard was going along at a terrific clip, and the club will miss him greatly. Howard played several games with the Red Sox on home grounds at the close of last season.

Training Camp Notes.

Hugh Bradley, the Worcester boy, entertained the guests of the Majestic Hotel last night by singing several popular songs. Bradley has a fine vaudeville voice.

Pat Dougherty was invited to play on the Red Sox Yannigans this afternoon, but declined, as his feet are very sore.

KINGPIN BILLIARDIST EVER WAS FRANK IVES

By MOSES YATTER.

Billiards is a game that is very hard to learn. It must be born in you. There are less professional billiardists than any kind of professionals.

When there is a match on between professionals they rarely pack the house. There's a reason—the game is too deep for the public to understand.

Ninety-three people out of a hundred can learn to play pool, but only one out of the same number can properly learn to play billiards.

Of those who have become masters of the difficult billiard game all began to study it when they were scarcely out of the cradle. Schaefer, Slosson, Sutton and Ives, all champions of the world at one time or the other, began to learn the game when they were mere slips of lads, some of them beginning to play when they were as young as nine years.

I played with Hoppe when he was only nine years and a half. I predicted at that time that he would become the champion of them all.

Schaefer was the most natural player of the entire clique. Ives was not only one of the greatest billiard players, but also one of the finest representatives of the diamond sport.

I have seen all the great players of the times, but to my way of thinking Frank Ives was the kingpin of them all.

I want to say this in conclusion—keep billiards and pool clean and play them as they should be played—honestly—and you will have them on a par with baseball as a safe and interesting amusement for the American masses and classes.

The tenth game in the three-cushion carom match at the Imperial last night was won by Ryan against Lawrie.

Ryan 50, high run 3, average .45; Lawrie 37, high run 4, average .34. Threshie and Lawrie play Monday night. Following is the standing:

Players	Won	Lost	Players	Won	Lost
Jones	3	0	Threshie	0	2
Ryan	3	0	Lawrie	1	3
Campbell	2	2	Mason	1	3

The coming week will see the final games and except for ties will be finished Friday.

$50,000 RAISED IN ENGLAND FOR TEAM

LONDON, April 2.—The Hurlingham Polo Club today made public a call for a $50,000 subscription to finance a team to go to America and compete for the international polo cup. Already $10,000 has been subscribed, the contributors including the Duke of Portland, the Duke of Westminster, the Earl of Harrington, the Earl of Lonsdale, the Earl of Lancaster, Viscount Valentia, Admiral Beatty and W. L. Gladstone. The players are to pay their own expenses and the $50,000 is to be vested in trustees principally for purchase of first-class ponies.

COLLEGE PLAYER FOR THE RED SOX

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., April 2.—Manager Donovan said that he knew nothing about the signing of Babe Reamor, the third baseman of the Santa Clara College team of California.

"I know Mr. Taylor has a player on the coast he regards as being a remarkable man, but whether this man is the one or not I cannot say," said the manager today.

AMERICAN HORSE WON.

LONDON, Apirl 2.—August Belmont's Boudoir to-day at Alexandra Park won the Grove welter handicap of 200 sovereigns. The race is for three-year-olds. Distance five furlongs. Blazes was second and Missed Catch third, the field being thirteen.

MORAN NEARLY KNOCKED OUT BY ATTELL

NEW YORK, April 2.—Abe Attell, the featherweight champion, and Owen Moran of England fought a marvellous ten-round draw at the Fairmont A. C. The fight was one of the classiest ever seen in this part of the country.

The two lads are masters of all the science of the manly art and the exhibition they put up was nothing less than wonderful. This battle marked their third meeting. In the trio of encounters they have traveled fifty rounds and neither has ever received a decision in his favor.

When they faced each other in the square circle at The Fairmont, both were ready to try and get the shade that would determine superiority. From the tap of the gong to the final clang they never wasted one second.

The final round was the roughest of the fray. The boys went after each other like a pair of demons. In one clash when Moran was bending over, Attell's glove slipped under his left arm and the Briton yanked so industriously that he pulled Attell to the floor but went down with him.

From then to the sound of the gong it was a beautiful exhibition of skill. The showing by Attell was a revelation to spectators. In his many fights in the East he never put up such a magnificent fight.

But as good as Attell was, Moran was just as clever. And he is deserving of as much praise as his rival. When the crowd surged out of the clubhouse they were satisfied that they had seen a great battle.

WHITE SOX PLAYER HAS SMALLPOX

SAN FRANCISCO, April 2.—Chester Waite, a White Sox outfielder who played here with the Yannigans, is reported ill with smallpox. He was taken sick shortly before the Yannigans finished their series with the Seals and the disease was diagnosed as chicken pox at a local hospital. It was reported to-day, however, that Waite has a slight attack of smallpox.

A. H. C. Mitchell, our expert on diamond matters with the Red Sox, will relate in the Boston Sunday American how things are progressing in the camp of the Donovanites. Hundreds pick the Taylor aggregation to bring home the pennant in the American League fight this season, so this article on the doings at Hot Springs will be worth while reading.

POLICE STOP WRESTLING.

BALTIMORE, April 2.—After fifty-eight minutes of wrestling between Mahmoul the Turk and "Americus" (Gus Schoenlein), in which both men were badly injured, the police stopped the bout. The decision was awarded to Mahmoul.

WHY ENTIRE WORLD IS INTERESTED IN JEFFRIES FIGHT

All the sport readers will want to see the big double-page article in the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN supplement to-morrow on the big battle for the heavyweight championship, which takes place on the coast July 4. With lifelike illustrations, the story explains why all mankind is deeply interested in the greatest fistic combat of the age. It's a thrilling narrative that will stir not only the followers of the fighting game, but everyone who has a bit of real red blood in his makeup.

HYDE PARK IN BALL LEAGUE

Backed by the business men of the town as well as the town officials, Hyde Park will be represented this year in the newly organized Norfolk County League with a baseball team that they should be proud of.

There are many candidates out for a position on the team and every one who thinks that he can play ball will be given a fair trial, as no favoritism will be shown. Paul Radford, the old second baseman for the Boston Nationals, will have charge of the boys and will select the ones that he thinks are best suited for the club.

The league has not made up its schedule as yet, but it is a fact that the boys will play their first game May 30th, probably away from home. Thomas Devine, manager of the team, has secured the use of the Readville Trotting Park, from Andrew Welsh, the owner, for their home games, and plans are now under way for a diamond to be made inside the track.

WAKEFIELD HAS GOOD SCHEDULE

Wakefield High will open its baseball season next Saturday afternoon at Wakefield with the M. I. T. freshman team for opponents.

Manager Hart has arranged a strong schedule and feels confident his boys will carry off the honors in the majority of the games played.

The schedule follows:

April 13, Peabody High at Wakefield; April 16, Weymouth High at Wakefield; April 19, a. m., Woburn High at Wakefield; April 21, Swampscott High at Swampscott; April 23, Reading High at Wakefield; April 27, Stoneham High at Wakefield; April 30, Dorchester High at Wakefield; May 4, Reading High at Reading; May 7, Boston English High at Wakefield; May 11, Woburn High at Woburn; May 14, Dorchester High at Dorchester; May 18, Swampscott High at Wakefield; May 21, Boston College High at Wakefield; May 25, Malden High at Wakefield; May 28, Gloucester High at Gloucester; May 30, a. m., open; June 1, Medford High at Medford; June 4, Winchester High at Wakefield; June 8, Malden High at Malden; June 11, Haverhill High at Wakefield; June 15, Everett High at Everett; June 17, a. m., Rindge Manual Training at Wakefield; June 18, open.

MOTOR RACES FOR INDIANA TRACK MAY 30

By J. C. KERRISON.

The award of the national track championship to Indianapolis for May 30 next will unquestionably operate to a considerable degree upon the securing of attractions for other motor track events on that holiday; so much so that several cities will hesitate long before they determine to arrange for such.

The Indianapolis track has made extensive arrangements for a three days' meet commencing May 27 and finishing with the national champions on Memorial Day. National championships are always interesting; always valuable, but just why the A. A. A. board of control should have granted a holiday for the holding of the same is not apparent. National championships should not be held on national holidays, which are always considered as one of the best sporting dates in the year, for the reason that championships will attract drivers who might otherwise take in other cities.

Cities, other than Indianapolis, desiring to hold motor races on Memorial Day will now have to do an additional hustle to secure attractions that will be of sufficient value or merit to draw a crowd, as all but one or two "pot hunters" will want to get into the championships, and those drivers who are under salary to manufacturers will perforce take in the championships, the winning of one of those particular events means considerable to the victorious car. Just how much this award will operate against the holding of motor track races on that particular day remains to be seen. It can, however, be taken for granted that Indianapolis will make one great bid for success on its three days of racing, and other meets will lose thereby.

YALE SOCCER TO PLAY HARVARD

Harvard and Yale will again battle for football supremacy on Soldiers' Field this afternoon at 3 o'clock, when the Crimson and Blue meet in their annual soccer contest. Without the acclaim of the thousands that packed the Stadium to witness the memorable struggle last December, but with the intense devotion of a few hundred who cling to the old-style football, the two rivals will fight hard to win.

Yale seems the more likely to gain the laurels of the year in soccer for up to the present the Eli eleven has made the better showing. The game last Saturday in which Yale defeated Pennsylvania by a score of two to one indicates that the New Haven collegiates understand how to produce results equally well in both styles of football.

The usual football hard luck has followed Harvard this year in her soccer games and the full weakness of the Crimson eleven was revealed in their game with Columbia last Saturday in which the boys from Morningside Heights shut out Harvard by a score of 2 to 0.

WOLGAST SAYS JEFFRIES WILL HAVE WALKOVER

CHICAGO, April 2.—Wolgast, the lightweight champion, is firmly of the belief that Jeffries will whip Johnson in their battle on July 4. "I have seen both men fight," Wolgast says, "and, being in the game and a champion, I should be competent to judge some. Jim Jeffries will clean the big black inside of ten rounds sure. Johnson never fought a real classy big fellow like Jeffries, and when they enter the ring he will feel like a sparerib. Jeffries has been there before. He never has been defeated. He can come back. Johnson is not taking care of himself, and then, when he does begin training he will overdo things in order to get right to face Jeffries. I know what I am talking about."

Speaking of a return match with Battling Nelson, Wolgast says that he promised the ex-champion in San Francisco that he would give him another chance, and it is now up to him to say what he is going to do. "He made the terms in the last battle and got the lion's share of the coin. Now it is my turn to dictate. I feel that he would draw more money at the gate than any other fighter. Nelson is a game man, but he is the meanest fighter I ever met, and I don't fear him. It will simply be a walk-over for me if we meet again. I was half scared the first time I met Nelson at Los Angeles, a year ago. Up to the fifth round I didn't know where I was.

"After I discovered that he was not such a terror as he had been painted I got busy. Well, that ten-round affair satisfied me. I knew that I could beat him over a route. In the last fight I found that Nelson was blowing up after the tenth round. I probably would have finished him inside of twenty rounds, but for the poor coaching I received. My second feared Nelson was shamming and just loafing in order to draw me on. I know now that he was not there. He will not last twenty rounds the next time."

M'LEAN THREATENS TO SUE FOR SALARY

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., April 2.—Larry McLean, the Reds' catcher, threatens to sue the Cincinnati club for a year's salary if his suspension is not lifted or unless he is sold or released. He left here with the team, declaring that the Cincinnati club could not deprive him of the right to play baseball.

ENGLISH POLO CLUB PLAYERS ARRIVE

NEW YORK, April 2.—Three members of the Hurlingham Polo Club, whose team is to participate in the Lakewood polo tournament this month, arrived to-day on the liner Campania. They are Captain de Crespigny of the Second Life Guards, Captain Belville of the Sixteenth Lancers and W. S. Buckmaster.

Tad will continue his story of the life, career and battles of Jim Jeffries in to-morrow's SUNDAY AMERICAN.

STRAIGHT DOPE
FOR SPORT FANS

CAN IT BE THAT ABIE ATTELL IS teaching Owen Moran bad habits, or is it that the Britisher is going back and the featherweight champ wanted to save him up for another bout? Owen was always about the best little wader-in that came from the other side, but, according to the morning papers, his go with Attell last night savored largely of the brother act. That Attell boy is one of the best young savers in the game.

I SEE THAT HECTOR M'INNES' 'young champ, Kid Sheehan, took another scrapper into camp last night, this time the victim being Mike Cunningham, who has proved a tough nut for many of them to crack. Sheehan is tipped as a comer, and I would like to see him given another chance at the Armory. He boxed there once and lost a decision on account of being deaf. He was knocked down in the first round and was taking his time about getting up. His infirmity caused him to miss the count, so the defeat was scored as a knockout against him.

GEORGE VINCENT, PROVIDENCE, R. I.—Jack Sheehan informs me that the diamond-studded belt given by Richard K. Fox as a heavyweight trophy was afterward returned to him and is now on exhibition in New York. It was given to Jake Kilrain.

JOSEPH KLAUS, CENTER FALLS, R. I.—Frank Klaus, the Pittsburg boxer, is of German parentage. He was born in Pittsburg and has been fighting for several years.

W. E. M., MILTON, MASS.—YOU CAN buy Spalding's or Reach's baseball guide at any sporting goods store. Either one will give you what you want.

X Y Z E, BOSTON—TAD NEVER MADE the Mutt pictures. Bud Fisher is the father of that most delightful series. Someone can now pay off the bet.

FRANK C. CODY, BOSTON, MASS., AND a lot of others. It's about time you learned that you won't get your stuff printed if you persist in writing on both sides of the paper. Get wise to this and you'll save the janitor from emptying my waste basket so often.

JOHNSON SAYS HE WILL LICK JEFF IN 20 ROUNDS

CHICAGO, April 2.—"I'll knock Jim Jeffries cold in twenty rounds."

Jack Johnson, in his preliminary training quarters at his home here, made this prediction to-day when, for the first time he outlined his campaign of ring generalship for use on July 4, when he meets Jeffries for the championship across the bay from San Francisco.

"I can do it in eighteen rounds," said the big negro, "but you can make it twenty to be on the safe side.

"That's no hot air. If I thought it would be better to fight a longer battle, I'd say so.

"Jeffries won't be able to feaze me in the opening rounds. He'll find that he hasn't got me scared, and then I'll wade in with some rough work, and set him the fastest pace he ever was up against.

"I think that I'm every bit as clever as Jim Corbett and I can punch twice as hard as he ever could. I've never been compelled to do my worst in a fight, but if I had to let loose with all force, I could knock over an obelisk. Jeffries will find that out.

"And I can outpoint him as easily as Corbett did. In this preliminary training I am giving most attention to my wind—not that I expect a long battle, however. I'll leave here probably on April 13—I'm not superstitious—and finish my work on the ocean beach of San Francisco, near the site of the Cliff House. No mountains for me. Golden Gate Park, five miles long, is as fine a training place as I could want.

"Tommy Ryan is dickering to come into my camp, and I'd be glad to have him. I'm proud to be the first black man to hold the heavyweight title and, take it from me, I'm going to keep it."

Frank Gotch, undisputed wrestling champion of the world, calls the coming Johnson-Jeffries fight a mammoth business enterprise, not a sporting event, in the article that he has written especially for the Boston Sunday American. For an inside view of how the great encounter will be handled this special is very interesting.

KID SHEA IN DRAW WITH TOMMY RILEY

BIDDEFORD, Me., April 2.—Tommy Riley of this city and Kid Shea of Portland, Me., went six fast rounds to a draw here at the National Hall. Young Mayo of this city also fought a six-round draw with Young Beaudeau of Lewiston.

C. E. Van Loan, the fistic expert, says in his article that will appear in to-morrow's SUNDAY AMERICAN that Jeff has no cinch in the coming big fight and that Johnson will show no yellow streak.

PACKY McFARLAND WINS IN ENGLAND

PLYMOUTH, Eng., April 2.—Packy McFarland of Chicago knocked out Dick Lee of London here to-night in the ninth round. The bout was scheduled to go fifteen rounds. Jimmy Britt was one of McFarland's seconds.

LYNCHBURG, Va., April 2.—Joe Turner of Washington defeated Harran Omar, the Turk, here in two straight falls. The first fall was in 22m. 10s.

"IN SPRING, THE YOUNG MAN'S FANCY"—

According to the poet, "the young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love," in springtime. But the young men who come over to our shop have their thoughts on good clothes. And this is where they get them—built in style—in fit—in workmanship—so that the man who wears them feels better and looks better than any ready-made clothes wearer among his acquaintances.

A line of about 2500 standard woolens from which to select—all in-the-piece—every courtesy and attention that intelligence and 18 years' experience can suggest—all these things combine to make Gale & Kent customers satisfied. The hardest thing for some tailors to do is to satisfy their customers—many tailors find it impossible. We think it easy. All they want is the goods—at the right prices. Our prices for suit (or overcoat), $15 to $25—and we will be looking for you, today or this evening, to measure you for that spring suit.

he Waking of Spring in City and Country

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

ON the ivy vine just outside the window a robin is singing, until it seems as though his scarlet throat st burst from sheer ecstacy and joy of ing. And from the little brook that s nearby there comes the music of the gs.

And it's Spring, my dears; blessed, beau il Spring.

Every schoolgirl walking along the ntry roads carries a bunch of pussy llows, and pretty soon shy "Spring autles" will be peeping out from their rners in the rail fences, and the "blood t" will thrust its pure little waxen face amongst its glossy green leaves.

That is what Spring means for those us who are fortunate enough to be in country; but even the prisoners of city are touched by Spring's magic nd.

The "strawberry man" and the "hya ith man," calling their wares up and wn the streets, suggest Spring.

The sparrows chatting joyously on the xt roof ae telling every one that it is ring, Spring, Spring, and, unconsciously, o every heart there comes a new hope d the feeling that everything is going be better than it has been.

The fact that all nature is daily grow more beautiful brings inspiration.

ring Is the Time to Live Again.

The Spring is the time to begin all er again. If you have been a failure, ke heart and try once more.

If you are discontented, go to one of e city parks and look at the green of grass and the budding trees.

Be grateful for being alive; suppose u had not lived to see this beautiful ring awakening.

There is nothing in all the world so autiful as the Spring sky, the young ass and the budding trees.

Everything is singing of Spring—the rds, the hand organ down the street; let ur heart sing too.

I wish you all could be in the country d listen to the Spring concert; the birds e mad with joy. A little bantam rooster s just strutted past the window, with admiring family teetering along de urely behind him, and every few minutes utters a shrill crow that says, as plainly words, "Look at the Sun, my dear, and e blue sky, and be happy, for it is ring."

If you ever lived in a small town, you member the glorious Spring evenings, hen you were allowed to go out after pper and play until it grew dark.

The boys played marbles and the girls vung on the gates, or sat on the steps, r, perhaps, you played "Harbor out," or de and seek.

In my town we had one wonderful game e called "Bankillow." Just what it eant I have never known, for the name d not in the least suggest the game.

Dear little, old Strathroy, I can see it t—the long, straggling village street, ery house in its bower of green.

ucked Away Deep in Your Heart.

Most of you, probably, have the memory some little country town deep in your art.

We grow up and we go far away from ose little old towns, but we never for t them.

Try and get out to the country in the st hours of leisure you have.

You can be in the country in no time. ot the wide open country of your child od, perhaps, but still a very beautiful untry at this time of year.

All countries are beautiful in the Spring, d your heart will be filled with the joy living. You can't help but feel it.

Just make up your mind to see the eauties of Spring; don't close your heart gainst all that is cheerful and gay.

Don't get it into your head that you ve no cause for gratitude. Every living eing has something for which to be rateful.

Just now we all have the beautiful pring; so let us rejoice in it.

ABSOLUTE EQUALITY

The Woman—The tax office is one which simply love to go to.

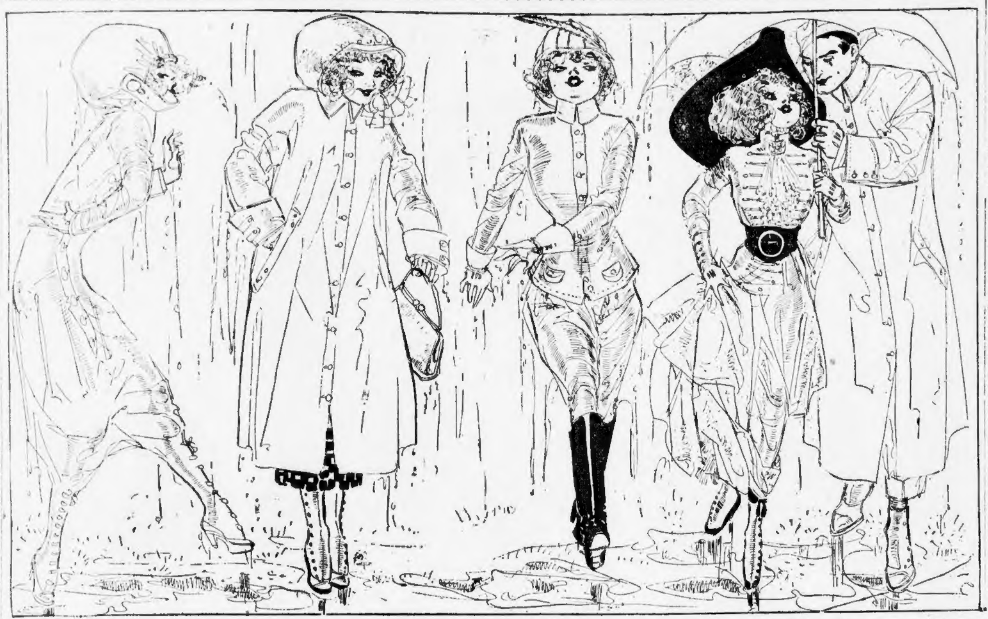
The Man—Very few people do. Why do ou like it?"

The Woman—Because it is absolutely e only place where no discrimination is ade against me because I am a woman. hey let me there pay just as much as if were a man.

How a Girl Can Look Pretty on a Rainy Day

BY NELL BRINKLEY

Copyright, 1910, by American Journal Examiner



A bloomer outfit of shiny leather, besides being an attractive costume, would be a useful one on a sloppy day.

Such a thing as a rainstorm would not bother the real Rainy Daisy, who would look good in a boy's raincoat and rubber hat.

A dainty bloomer outfit would find favor with many a maid, if she could don one when the sky becomes overcast and the rain pours.

But the best way to brave a rainstorm is with a man who really knows how to take care of the girl he has with him.

Which Are 10 Best Novels? $25 in Prizes for Ideas

HAVE you joined the thousands of BOSTON AMERICAN readers who are discussing which are the ten greatest novels, in the AMERICAN'S latest prize contest.

Here is the proposition:

WHICH ARE THE TEN BEST AND GREATEST NOVELS?

The AMERICAN likes to encourage good reading and wants the opinions of its readers.

The idea is not which are the most amusing, which are the so-called "best sellers," but which ten books convey in the form of an interesting story the greatest amount of useful information, and at the same time provoke in the reader the greatest amount of useful thought.

Avoid the "mushroom" novels of to-day, which spring up over night and are soon forgotten.

Send in your list of the ten greatest novels—the ten that do most to interest, to cheer the lives of those that read them, and at the same time to convey useful information and stir up useful, noble thought.

For the best list the AMERICAN will give a prize of $10; for the next best a prize of $5, and for the next ten prizes of $1 each. The winning lists will be adjudged by a committee of Boston literary people.

Address "Best Novels" Editor, BOSTON AMERICAN, No. 80 Summer street, Boston.

Mary Garden Wins Plaudits as 'Melisande'

BY FREDERICK JOHNS.

SOMETHING happened during the performance of "Pelleas and Melisande" at the Boston Theatre last night which demonstrated better than a column of argument the magic of the music of Claude Debussy.

The curtain parted and disclosed the vaults beneath the castle of Allemonde. There was an arched doorway, high in the background and all in front was in shadow. A dark and stagnant pool was supposed to exist there. To the doorway Goland dragged Pelleas and threatened to thrust him down if he continued his philandering with Melisande.

The scene was weird and the music pure witchcraft. But suddenly and without warning the setting rose in the air and disappeared in the flies, and there stood Pelleas and Goland, standing on a carpenter's bench, and the stage behind them set for the next scene, a terrace outside the castle.

It was a most absurd situation, and yet so compelling was the music that the big audience sat still and nobody laughed.

De La Fuente, the conductor, continued to beat time and the singers from their queer post, sang on about the dark pit and the death odors rising from it for a moment longer. Then Stage Director Coini rang down the curtain and presumably murdered the stage hand who had removed a medieval castle over the heads of its occupants without warning.

Mary Garden is the only Melisande. When she grows old or dies Debussy might as well store away his opera. The beautiful stately fool, whose every answer is "I don't know" is still a heroine in her hands. Her death scene last night was thrillingly realistic.

Devries did not always realize Pelleas vocally but he was a poetical Pelleas, and a most artistic singer and actor. Dufranne is superb as Goland, and Arkel the saintly old king was beautifully sung by Huberdeau, who two nights before played the Devil in Griselidis.

De La Fuente realized the poetic nature of the score and could not be blamed for interruption of the scene music because of delays in setting the stage. The twelve scenes which must be set while the orchestra plays through the intermissions taxed the stage management to the utmost.

Good Things to Eat

The slump of the price of potatoes in the wholesale market is the sensation of the week among produce men. The quoted price to-day is 85 and 90 cents per bag—two bushels. The bottom has dropped out of the market completely and the wise buyer who looks about before he buys can pick up bargains in potatoes that don't get on the exchange board.

A carload was sold on Tuesday for 60 cents a bag and there are many who predict that they will sell lower next week. The dealers buy in as small quantities as possible, expecting to buy every succeeding lot at a lower figure.

Only five weeks ago the price was firm at $1.15 and $1.20 a bag and speculators who bought large quantities for a rise were badly bitten when the slump came.

The way prices hold up on butter and eggs, despite the early Spring, is a mystery. Retailers say that the market is being manipulated by the storage men and that prices must drop soon under the overwhelming receipts. The prices quoted for strictly fresh local eggs range from 30 to 38 cents, which is out of all reason, according to dealers.

Carolina and California asparagus is coming into the market in quantities at present, but the price does not decline. It sells for 50 cents to $1 a bunch at retail, the 50-cent bunches not being very good.

Dealers say there is more maple sugar and syrup in the market this year than usual, probably due to the early Spring. Pure sugar sells for 18 and 22 cents a pound and compounds about 10 cents cheaper. Pure syrup sells for $1.25 per can.

Smart Set, Much in Need of Rest, Quits Boston

By ELIZABETH ELLIOTT.

WITH the end of the week comes the usual scurrying of the fashionables for country homes, where they go this week, much in need of the quiet and rest, far from the madding crowds, for the first few days of the "little season" have been so gay, with the two series of grand opera, the weddings and innumerable other smart affairs, that even the most energetic are utterly fatigued with their efforts to keep pace with the hurrying procession.

The two matinees this afternoon brought the week to a triumphant finish, and then the fashionables who remained in town especially for them scattered to the four winds for their week-end rest.

* * *

An event of the week which is bringing endless felicitations in its train is the visit of the stork to the home of that interesting young couple, Mr. and Mrs. John S. Ames of Commonwealth avenue, and there is a special rejoicing owing to the fact that it's a thriving young heir. Mrs. Ames before her marriage last Spring at her country home was Miss Nancy Filley, the belle and beauty of the Vincent Club and one of the finest horsewomen of her set.

They spent their honeymoon in Europe, returning in time to spend the late season with Mr. Ames's sister, Miss Mary Shreve, at her villa in Newport.

Mrs. John L. Gardner has decided to keep her art exhibition at Fenway court open for several days after Monday.

The Boston contingent at the Capitol in Washington was well represented at the large and brilliant ball given at Rauscher's in Washington by Postmaster-General Frank Hitchcock. Among the guests were President Taft, accompanied by Mrs. Louise Moore, a sister of Mrs. Taft, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ingalls, who are guests at the White House; Mrs. Larz Anderson, in cloth of silver with rhinestone embroidery; the Misses Alice and Julia Meyer, both in white tulle dancing dresses caught up with daisies; Miss Laura Merriam, in pink satin with clusters of pink roses; Mrs. Francis B. Crowninshield, in pale pink chiffon embroidered in black with panels of black lace in the skirt; Miss Mabel Boardman, in pale satin and lace, and Miss Martha Phillips in rose pink satin with lace.

Count and Countess Moltke, Mr. and Mrs. Larz Anderson, the ambassador from France and Mme. Jusserand, Baroness Rosen, Ambassador and Mrs. James Bryce, the minister from Sweden and Mme. de Lagercrantz, Senator George Peabody Wetmore, Senator Dupont, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Foster and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Wadsworth were members of the dinner party which Vice-President and Mrs. James Sherman gave at their residence before the dinner given by the Postmaster-General.

Miss Martha Phillips is entertaining Miss Margaret Draper and Miss Leighton at her home in Washington.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Francis L. V. Hoppin (Mary Gurnee) are expected at the home of Mrs. Hoppin's parents in New York late in the month.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Francis R. Bangs of Fairfield street are in St. Augustine, Fla., for a few weeks' visit.

* * *

Among the members of the Boston colony at Havana this week are Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Burt, Miss Gladys Burt, Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Morse and Miss Dora Roberts.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Shaw of this city are in New York this week and are stopping at the Hotel Belmont.

Never Share Secrets With Best Friend

By MABEL HERBERT URNER

"NOW you must never mention this! I wouldn't have it known for worlds—but——" And she trailed off into a confidential whisper, in which only an occasional "he said" and "she said" could be heard.

How often have you heard a confidence premised by some such remark? How often have you said: "Now this must not be repeated!" or "I wouldn't tell any one else! You must not refer to it in any way!" or "This is just to you—you must say nothing about it!"

Why—oh, why, if you didn't want a thing told, if you really want to keep it secret, why do you tell it at all?

If you can't keep your own secrets, how can you expect anyone else to keep them for you? Have you any right to expect from others a greater discretion than you have yourself?

You believe that the friend you confide in is very fond of you; that she is absolutely to be trusted; that under no circumstances will she repeat what you have said.

Perhaps she is fond of you, and at the time she promises "never to mention it," her intention may be sincere.

And So the Story Spreads.

But she has another friend, of whom she is also very fond, another friend in whom she, too, believes implicitly. The thing you have told her is most interesting. She has no deliberate desire to betray your confidence—certainly no desire to hurt you in any way. But this particular friend in whom she has such faith, surely it will not matter if she tells only her! She knows she will never repeat it—it will not hurt if just she knows!

So she swears this friend to secrecy—and tells her!

The friend, in her turn, tells another friend—one that she knows will never mention it—and so it goes. None of them intending to betray a confidence—but all of them telling some one else!

And when, several weeks later, you find that many people know your secret; when in some mysterious way it comes back to you exaggerated and distorted, you are astounded, indignant and hurt beyond words.

How could your friend have betrayed your confidence? You are seething with a sense of righteous indignation. You cautioned her so carefully, and she promised so faithfully never to mention it!

But before you condemn her too harshly stop and think if you have never broken a confidence; if you have never told something you promised not to tell? Not viciously, or even deliberately, but simply because you could not help it; because it slipped out unawares, or because you felt sure the person could be trusted.

That has happened, hasn't it? If it hasn't you are a most remarkable person, and you are probably not that!

A secret known by more than one person is not a secret! Has that ever been said? If not it should have been. It's infinitely better and more true than many well-known axioms.

Why Tell in the First Place?

Sometimes the person whom you so carefully caution "not to repat this," does not really repeat it. She may not tell it in so many words. She may make only some veiled references, some inferences here and there. And then she is almost as dismayed and astonished as you are when she finds it is "known." She wonders how it could have "gotten out."

But why did you tell her in the first place? You had nothing to gain by the confidence. There was no need of it. There was no reason why you should, and many why you should not. Why should you expect her to do, for you, what you did not do for yourself—that is, to keep your secret.

MORAL: Trite and obvious. I admit. But oh, such a good moral to remember! Don't tell anyone anything that you don't want every one to know.

A WOMAN CAN EARN $5000.00 A YEAR

Learn Dressmaking at Home

We will teach you by mail and equip you to command a good income or you can start in business for yourself. Many women nowadays are earning $100 a week—$5,000 a year—by dressmaking. One woman, the head designer of Chicago's largest retail dry goods house, is said to receive $10,000 a year. Salaries of $25 to $50 a week are common. Become a Graduate Dressmaker. The regular diploma of this college is issued to all who complete this course of lessons. The American System is most simple and complete in every detail. These lessons will teach you how to draft your own patterns and make your own clothes and enable you to dress far better at one-half the usual cost, also how to design, draft, cut, fit, make, drape and trim any garment, including children's clothing.

WHAT ARE THESE LESSONS WORTH?

Our Students say: "I have made 25 waists (6 silk ones) all perfect fits." "I just saved the price of my course by making my own silk dress." "My husband is surprised and pleased." "I believe your system of teaching is the best in use; it is fully worth $200 to any one contemplating dressmaking." "I would not take $500 for what I have learned and do without it."

This book will be sent you free. At an expense of thousands of dollars this college has published 100,000 of these copyrighted books to advertise the AMERICAN SYSTEM OF DRESSMAKING, and—while they last—will send you a copy FREE. Write for it today. One copy only to each woman. Requests filed in the order received. Don't take time to write a letter, just use the Coupon.

American College of Dressmaking:

I have just finished my lessons in your course of instruction and am delighted with it. In speaking of your system to others, I have said that I would not take $50 for it and do without it. I can save the cost of the lessons in one coat suit, I can buy the material and make it to fit better. I have made three coat suits and a number of skirts and shirt waists, besides quite a lot of other sewing all of which has given perfect satisfaction.

Please accept thanks for the instructions given and the interest you have taken in me.

Very respectfully yours,
MRS. T. L. CATE.

PUBLIC HEARING.

THE MASSACHUSETTS Highway Commission will give a public hearing Thursday, April 7, at 10 A. M., at 15 Ashburton Place, Boston, to all persons interested, on a revision of telephone rates and service in the Metropolitan and Suburban districts as recommended to it in a report submitted by Prof. D. C. Jackson and Wm. B. Jackson.

The Metropolitan District, under the proposed plan, comprises the following exchanges: Main, Fort Hill, Haymarket, Richmond, Oxford, Back Bay and Tremont, and the Metropolitan rates are for the Metropolitan District and do not include any exchanges outside.

The Suburban districts are each composed of a particular exchange and all its adjoining Suburban exchanges and are arranged in grades according to the number of subscribers in each district. E districts having less than 2,500; F districts having 2,500 to 5,000; G districts having 5,000 to 10,000 and H districts having 10,000 to 25,000 subscribers.

The exchanges in E districts and governed by E rates are Cohasset, Hingham, Hull, Lincoln, Norwood and Reading.

The exchanges in F districts and governed by F rates are Braintree, Canton, Chelsea, East Boston, Needham, Randolph, Wakefield, Weymouth, Winchester, Winthrop and Woburn.

The exchanges in G districts and governed by G rates are Dedham, Hyde Park, Lexington, Malden, Melrose, Newton West, Quincy, Revere, Stoneham, Waltham and Wellesley.

The exchanges in H districts and governed by H rates are Arlington, Belmont, Brighton, Brookline, Cambridge, Charlestown, Dorchester, Everett, Jamaica Plain, Medford, Milton, Newton North, Newton South, Roxbury, Somerville and South Boston.

The schedule of rates recommended for the various classes of service is as follows:

Additional calls	3c each.
Stations, per year	$6.00 each.
Additional Trunk Lines, per year	24.00 each.

The report recommends that all exchanges within a 7½ mile radius shall be included in the 5c toll rate between the Metropolitan and Suburban exchanges, the same rate to apply to toll calls from any Suburban Exchange to another Suburban Exchange outside its district. An additional toll of 5c is to be charged for each additional 7½ miles or fraction thereof, measurement being on an air line basis.

In the coin box service it is recommended that an excess of calls above the guaranty in one month shall apply against a deficiency in another month within the year, so that the subscriber would only have to pay for calls actually made, provided the money collected is sufficient to equal the yearly guaranty which includes Boston and Suburban tolls.

The report recommends the substitution of 2-party lines in place of multiple party lines, except in the coin box service, and that all party lines be equipped for divided ringing, whereby on 2-party lines only the bell on the station called would sound.

The report makes other recommendations in relation to the charges for extension sets, short term rates, etc.

Big Piano Bargains

EVERY MAKE Are you thinking of buying a piano of some special make—a piano that has a good reputation—one that everyone knows is a first-class make? If you are, you are just the person to whom we wish to say—"Don't pay too much for it"—you will be asked a good round price for it unless you get it of us. We are in no trade or financial combination to keep the prices of pianos up—the name of a piano means much—it guarantees the instrument—but when the piano gets to our sacrifice floor the name is not considered. When we cut the price we cut all alike—and we cut deep. You buy while we cut.

PIANO WAREROOMS

395 BOYLSTON STREET

We do not pretend to be a "storage warehouse" nor "second floor dealers", nor are we running "guessing contests" or issuing worthless "certificates." Neither do we buy cheap new pianos in New York city for $75 and sell them as "bargains" at from $100 to $300. But we do give the public reliable pianos at lowest possible prices on easy terms of $10 down and $5 per month. An inspection of our stock and prices will show you why it is better for you and for us to do straightforward piano business, rather than resort to unscrupulous advertising methods. Established in 1863—we have for nearly 50 years given the public the best piano values anywhere obtainable. Call at our warerooms and let us prove this to you.

BOSTON AMERICAN

80 AND 82 SUMMER ST., BOSTON, APRIL 2, 1910

To Preserve a Government by the Consent of the Governed, the Boston American Advocates:

First—Direct nominations, that the people may select such public servants as they deem worthy;

Second—The recall, that the people may dismiss such public servants as have proved unworthy;

Third—The initiative, that the people may compel action upon such legislation as they deem necessary;

Fourth—The referendum, that the people may accept or reject legislation as they deem desirable;

Fifth—A Corrupt Practices act that will limit election expenses to legitimate purposes and make men, and not money, the deciding force in American politics;

Sixth—Public ownership of public utilities, that the values created by the people shall belong to the people, and a referendum upon every public franchise, that no public servant shall barter the people's property for his private gain;

Seventh—The election of Senators by the people, and of Judges for short terms, that no branch of government shall feel itself too far above the people or too long removed from the people.

Another Child Labor Disgrace in New Jersey

The Usual Story of Selfish Personal Interest and Brutality Outweighing the Value of Child Life

Copyright, 1910, by American-Journal-Examiner

For five years decent men and women down in the State of New Jersey have struggled to pass through the Legislature a bill to protect the lives and the health of children.

The glass factories and other concerns in New Jersey grind up young children into dividends. The glass factories especially, with their night work, have killed, and are slowly killing, many children driven to work by poverty.

Not a great deal was asked of those New Jersey legislators—SIMPLY THAT THEY PROTECT THE CHILDREN FROM NIGHT WORK UP TO THE AGE OF SIXTEEN YEARS.

Kind-hearted men and women in New Jersey have besought the men that make the laws to give the children—the little boys of the glass factories—some protection from killing night labor until they reach the age of sixteen.

The owners of the glass works have fought the bill. They want to pay low wages. A little boy twelve or thirteen years old can do their night work about as well as an older boy, and he is cheaper.

It is true that a little boy of twelve or thirteen is apt to be quickly killed by night work in a glass factory, and he is absolutely certain to have his life ruined and his future spoiled by that work.

But a boy of twelve or thirteen is much cheaper than a boy of sixteen or seventeen. A sixteen or seventeen year old boy can find better work, better paid.

So the glass men have fought the effort to protect the young children.

And, to his disgrace be it said, the friend of the glass men and the bitter enemy of the children has been Senator Plummer of New Jersey.

Senator Plummer represents his county of Salem, nominally.

But he really represents his own interest in the Quinton Glass Company of Quinton, N. J.

After years of working, years of opposition by the glassmakers, Assemblyman Olwell got a bill through the lower House. The bill was so palpably in the interest of humanity that only one man in the Assembly voted against it. It passed the lower House practically unanimously.

Then it got into the Senate of New Jersey, and into the hands of Senator Plummer, who had himself very wisely stationed in a place where it would be easy for him to interfere with any effort to protect the children.

When Plummer and his associates, bosom friends of the glassmakers that need child labor, had finished with the bill, they brought out of committee a bill that would make the children infinitely worse off than they were before.

They pretended to compromise by making the age limit of night work for children fifteen instead of sixteen. In reality they know perfectly well that dishonest employers and parents driven by poverty can put children of fourteen, and thirteen, and even younger, to work by swearing that they are fifteen, or by hiding away the very small ones when the inspectors come around.

Only the age limit of sixteen would give the children any protection.

And, not content with that, this bill tacks on to the pretended compromise and concession a rule allowing children under fifteen years of age to work only fifty-five hours a week and ten hours a day. Thus children between fifteen and sixteen could work as long hours in the week and in the day as the employer might choose.

Formerly the law limited the working week to fifty-five hours and the working day to ten hours for children UP TO SIXTEEN.

But Senator Plummer and his associates, besides shamefully mutilating the bill that was introduced to protect the children at night, have cunningly and most unscrupulously cheated the children in a different way, by changing the law which formerly protected children under sixteen so that it protects them now only below fifteen.

Plummer and others concerned in this should be ashamed of themselves. The Olwell bill as originally introduced should pass the Senate, AND IT WILL PASS THE SENATE OF NEW JERSEY, UNLESS THERE IS A WORKING MAJORITY IN THAT BODY READY TO TAKE THE MONEY OF THE GLASS MANUFACTURERS AND OTHERS, OR PERSONALLY INTERESTED IN GLASS FACTORIES AND IN CHILD LABOR.

It is to be hoped that as a last resort Governor Fort, in the interest of children, will prevent the passage of this shamefully mutilated bill—since it is a bill that swindles the children doubly, refusing them the protection that the Olwell bill would have given them, and depriving them of the little protection that they already had in the child labor bill as it stood, limiting the hours per week and per day up to sixteen years of age.

The SUNDAY AMERICAN is Boston's greatest newspaper. Something in it for everybody. More features and news than in any other newspaper. Circulation growing all the time.

Back to the Old New England Farm

By GEORGE H. GORDON

In every political campaign this can be seen every evening. A speaker of more or less reputation is billed to make an address. Long before the doors open a crowd gathers and nervously waits for the glad sound of the sliding bolts.

Then, the doors open. First a little, finally wide. The excited crowd rushes in like stampeding sheep.

Down through long aisles, this way and that, men and women crowding on each other's heels, make frantic choice of a seat.

Everybody wants to get right down in front. Hundreds of seats just as good or even better for practical purposes are passed by in the rush.

A few minutes and the front seats are filled. The crowd gradually works its way back to the seats scorned a moment before.

Before the evening is over one sees fifty waiting to grab any old seat, even in the rear or under some gallery which all had spurned in the first grand rush.

Something very like that is now happening in the great rush for homes in Uncle Sam's domain. When years ago he threw down the bars and the hungry peoples of the world made their first mad rush all wanted the seats down front—the rich farms away out West.

These are now almost all taken.

Homesteaders see the folly of trying to force their way into the golden regions of the West and they are coming this way, back to old New England.

Most interesting, too, they find that for all practical purposes the so-called worthless, wornout farms in this section are nothing of the sort, but the equal of any for the man willing to work. In addition they are right at the door of the world's best markets—an enormous advantage.

Wide awake to this turning of the agricultural tide from the Far West to the Eastern States, the Boston & Albany Railroad and the Massachusetts Agricultural College are now touring the State with a five-car special train of exhibits, showing what can and is being done to re-people the farms of the Commonwealth.

Wherever the train has gone, whether out in the now silent Berkshire Hills, the future home of millions of sheep; the rich Connecticut Valley, the best apple and orcharding section in the country, the hills of Harvard and that country round about; the men on the train found this new spirit.

Old hard-shell farmers who had long ago declared that "'twan't no use" trying to make a living off the Massachusetts farms, have boarded the special everywhere with the enthusiasm of boys. They hear tidings gladly and see for themselves what intensive agriculture can and is accomplishing.

The clean-cut, enthusiastic young students from the Amherst college, with their instructors who are in charge of the train, most of them the sons of just such old and once-discouraged sires, have inspired the eager crowds.

"The boys are coming back, back to the old farms!" Proof of it was seen at every station.

"I was out West and found it just as hard to make a living as back here," said a prosperous young farmer in Pittsfield. "Then I came back here, bought a couple of these old hill farms and now I've got a thousand of the best sheep in the world on them. Why, there's more money to be made raising sheep on these Berkshire hills than in all the copper mines in the world."

Men who have gone into orcharding, some of them having renovated old plantations of apples, plums, pears, etc., others preferring to start new orchards, sing only one song—that New England is the greatest deciduous fruit section in the country.

The train was prepared on a modest scale, but the railway officials and college faculty were more than pleased with the result of their trip.

"The boys are coming home! Back to old New England!"

He Writes About Pa and the English Actor

By WILLIAM F. KIRK

It is a funny world, Pa sed. To-day we are here & to-morrow we stay out late. To-day we pluck the blossoms of joy & to-morrow we grab a thistle in our tender hands. Did you ever grab a thistle? sed Pa.

I shud say I did, sed Ma, I married one.

Doant be so harsh, sed Pa, I doant like the rough stough. As I was saying, this is a funny world.

It is all of that, sed Ma, & thare is sum funny peepul in it, like you, for instens. What is on yure mind.

Well, sed Pa, it is like this. I went to a actor yesterday with a song wich I thought he cud sing. He was a English actor, with them deep, soulful eyes that is set so far back in the head that they cant be expeckted to see a joak.

I red him the first verse of the song:

I am a awful failure,
I've newer gained renown;
The peepul call me London Bridge—
I'm always falling down.

Wud you beleeve it? sed Pa, that thare Englisman looked at me & sed Old Chap, I say, London Bridge isent a failure, you know. You shall have to change that song.

So yure song was a flivver? se' Ma. What? sed Pa. A flivver, sed Ma, a glass crash, a false alarm. Doant use so much slang, sed Pa. I lerned it from you, sed Ma. That is what Ma always tells him.

Well, to go on, sed Pa, I talked sum moar to my English frend, toald him that if he dident like that song I had a other song which I wud like to show him. I toald him that this one was reely funny, & then I sang it for him:

We lose most everything in life,
A poet grate onst wrote;
Littel Bo Peep has lost her sheep,
Cannon has lost his goat.

Then the English actor looked at me, Pa sed, & he sed to me, How vary singular. That is all he sed, Pa toald Ma, jest, How vary singular. He dident laff at all. He even asked me if Cannon had owned the goat vary long.

You poor man, sed Ma, you are certainly up aggenst it. Why dident you try to sell that song to a Swede. Swedes is vary trusting, sed Ma. Thay think thare is good in everything, even in snuff.

Pa beegan for to look at Ma kind of funny. He must have thought that Ma was making fun of him. Ma was.

I thought it was a kind of funny song, sed Pa. I had a other verse to it, & a chorus. This was it:

We lose the girl we want to wed,
We lose our spirits gay,
We lose our sleep, we lose a heap,
As through this world we wander.

But the Englishman dident like that verse, either, sed Pa. He toald me that I shud have sed 'stray" insted of "wander." He sed that "stray" was a ripping good rime for "gay."

After that, sed Pa, I left the Englishman & beat it hoam to my deer littel wife, wich has a fine sense of humor. & so I have, sed Ma, if I hadent liked joaks I wud have never married you.

Curtin.

First Artist—Well, old chap, how is business?

Second Artist—Oh, splendid! Got a commission this morning from a millionaire. Wants his wife and children painted very badly.

First Artist—Well, you're the very man to do that.

A Guide to the Professions

By WEX JONES

BEARDED LADY—This is the profession that was made popular by Mr. Barnum. To be successful in it, begin at an early age to use one of the hair eradicators which publish testimonials from smooth-faced writers. This treatment will almost ensure you a luxuriant growth of whiskers, and then your career is obviously about to be successful.

CRITIC—The student desirous of becoming a literary critic must take up one of two courses. First, he may practice condemning everything he reads—although being careful to read very little; or, second, he may spend his early years in boosting everything he sees. The first course is the one more preferred, but either will serve. So long as the critic finds everything bad or everything good he is a success. If he finds good and bad mixed, the literary people will put him down as colorless and he will be cast into the limbo of the undecided.

DUCK—To be a successful duck it is necessary to have web feet, and the only way to obtain these requisites is to be a mermaid's hen for two or three years. Thus this profession is hardly worth the consideration of those students to whom time is an object.

TAXIDERMIST—A taxidermist is a man who stuffs skins. It is not enough to get a skinful of breakfast food, for the taxidermist must give the trophies of the hunter a lifelike appearance. To preserve the likeness of a rhinoceros, which may be taken as a typical animal, a few things are necessary. First, organize a scientific expedition. This is needful, because before beginning to stuff a rhinoceros it is imperative that the animal should be killed. Of course, if the rhino were susceptible to kindness it would be possible to feed it on so much hay that the beast would automatically stuff itself, but since it interprets kindness as a form of weakness this method is not practicable. So, having organized a scientific expedition, the taxidermist will go out upon the plains of Africa and dare the savage rhino to charge him. When the foolish brute accepts the challenge, greet it with a half-pound of lead from an express rifle. Then remove the rhino's raincoat and spread it upon a wooden skeleton. After this you are a full-fledged taxidermist.
